3. Section 11A of the said Act shall be renumbered as section 11B, and after section 11 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely :—

Power to appoint substitute for the person upon whose application a reception order has been made.

"11A. (1) The Magistrate may, subject to the provisions of this section, by order in writing (hereinafter referred to as an order of substitution), transfer the duties and responsibilities under this Act of the person on whose petition a reception order has been made to any other person who is willing to undertake the same, and such other person shall thereupon be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be the person on whose petition the reception order was made, and all references in this Act to such last-mentioned person shall be construed accordingly :

DACCA, the 20th November 1926.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for October 1926.

I. Character of the season.—During the early part of the month wet weather prevailed accompanied with general rain throughout the province. In the latter part, the fall was slight. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Preparatory tillage for the spring crops and their sowings, especially of early varieties, were progressing under favourable conditions. Reaping of autumn paddy was almost over. Weeding of winter paddy still continues.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Damage to standing crops by insects was reported from parts of Mymensingh and Tripura State.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of live-stock was generally fair. Sporadic cases of cattle-disease were, however, reported from nine districts.

RESOLUTION ON THE LAND REVENUE ADMINISTRATION REPORT FOR 1925-26.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Land Revenue.

CALCUTTA, THE 18TH NOVEMBER 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 11886L.R.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Land Revenue Administration of the Presidency for the year 1925-26.

READ ALSO—

The Land Revenue Administration Reports of the three previous years.

Mr. K. C. De, C.I.E., held charge of the office of the Member of the Board of Revenue from the beginning of the year to the 19th September and again from the 16th November 1925 to the end of the year. During the intervening period when Mr. De was on leave the charge of the office was held by Mr. J. N. Gupta. M.B.E.

There was no serious natural calamity during the year, and generally stated, the condition of the agricultural class was prosperous. This is reflected in an improvement in the percentage of land revenue collection. which increased to 95·46 from a little over 94. at which it was steady for several years previously. Number of sales of entire estates for arrears of land revenue also fell to 711 from 801 and 877 in the previous two years. Certificates for realisation of dues other than road and public works cesses also fell by about 10 per cent. Repayment of land improvement and agricultural loans was also satisfactory though there was no improvement in percentage. Collection of road and public works cess was, however, not so satisfactory as might be expected, but there were fewer certificates filed for realisation of arrears.

The high rates of wages for labour were maintained, and while this benefited the labouring classes and the high prices of food crops benefited the agriculturists, the landless middle-class population suffered. A partial relief was afforded by the fall in the price of cloth, but dearth of employment for intellectual labour continued. Activities in the direction of industrial pursuits—insignificant though most of them still are—are becoming more and more manifest, and Government have read with interest the Board's review of these activities.

The Board observes that the greatest obstacles to the prosperity of the rural area have been malaria and kala-azar, which continue to take a heavy toll in almost all parts of the province, particularly in the districts of west and north Bengal. Co-operative Anti-malarial Societies and local organisations at several places are doing good work, but it is obvious that very much still remains to be done.

The cost of management proper of the estates under direct management gave a percentage of 9·7 on the current demand. Considerable economy has been effected by the substitution of kunangoes in the place of Sub-Deputy Collectors as tahsildars of khasmahals. On the other hand the staff in general had to be given the benefit of the general revision of pay of ministerial and other officers made during the years 1921-22. The figures since 1922 23 show that it is no longer possible to keep the cost within 6 per cent. of collection. During the year 1925-26 the Board was able to spend only Rs. 79,295 on agricultural, sanitary and miscellaneous improvements. A special additional grant to complete certain urgently needed works was sanctioned with the vote of the Council during the current year, but it is obvious that the total 9½ per cent. grant hitherto prescribed must be raised. The matter is under examination.

The Governor in Council has read with special interest the account of colonisation work in the Sunderbans in paragraphs 24-25 of the Board's report. There is a very wide field of useful work for all departments of Government in these newly reclaimed areas. These colonisation schemes have been helpful in converting even hardened criminals into fairly respectable members of society. In the Bakarganj Sundarbans though the immediate increase in the raiyatwari rent demand was small, survey of a very large area of nearly 12,000 acres was completed under a new system, and it it expected that the revenue would soon increase by about Rs. 83,000. The programme in the 24-Parganas Sunderbans is also being steadily carried on.

In the settled areas the relations between landlord and tenant are reported to have been fairly satisfactory. Where friction arose it was due mainly to the misconduct of under-paid agents of absentee landlords. The commencement or expectation of settlement operations have been disturbing factors in some districts. It is hoped that these will settle down with better feeling when the operations close. The groundless fear that bargadars would be given occupancy right did not subside altogether and led in some cases to these men being deprived of their lands. On the other hand in the Dacca district some Muhammadan cultivators refused to cultivate the lands of Shaha money-lenders on the barga system. These are only temporary causes of friction and are expected not to last long.

The special provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act for the protection of certain aboriginal tribes were extended during the year to the Mundas, Oraons and Sonthals in the districts of Rajshahi and Bogra. The privilege given to certain landlords to realise arrears of rent from their tenants by certificate procedure under section 158A of the Act appears to have been used with discretion, and there was a fall in the number of such certificates from 83,451 in the previous year to 66,152. In the district of Nadia 379 applications relating to 12,581 tenancies were filed for the conversion of utbandi tenancies into ordinary raiyati holdings under the special Act which was passed in 1923. The Governor in Council welcomes the indications that this recent addition to the Statute Book has been working smoothly and successfully.

The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to the Board of Revenue for the careful and efficient administration of the Department.

By order of the Governor in Council.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

The normal surplus which may be expected in future, i.e., the difference between the average ordinary income and expenditure, calculated on the figures in columns 3 to 18, and 17 to 18, respectively.

Remarks.

In addition to the details required on the reverse, clear information should be given below under the followinp heads :—

(a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charge of the proposed loan, the particular steps which the Municipal Board has taken or has agreed to take to make good the deficiency.	(a) With a view to increase the income of water-rate fund the Municipal Commissioners resolved that water rate at 6 per cent. of the annual value of holdings be imposed on all holdings situated within a radius of 500 feet from the nearest stand-pipe or reservoir or other sources of municipal water-supply and at 5 per cent. (instead of 4 per cent. formerly imposed) of the annual value of those holdings situated beyond 500 feet but within a radius of 1,000 feet and at the rate of 3 per cent. of the annual value of those holdings situated beyond 1,000 feet but within a radius of 2,500 feet from the nearest stand-pipe or reservoir or other sources of municipal water-supply for which Government sanction has been obtained.
(b) Possible means of income in the revenue of the Municipal Board.	(b) The Municipal Commissioners are in contemplation to introduce tax on holdings in place of tax of persons now in vogue and thereby expects a substantial increase in their income from next year.
(c) A statement of all outstanding loans as well as the annual charges involved on their account.	(c) (1) Loan of Rs. 8,000 was taken on the 28th March 1906 and the full amount was paid up in March 1926 by 40 equal instalments at Rs. 292-7-1 per instalment. (2) Loan of Rs. 5,000 was taken on the 2nd January 1912 out of which twenty-nine instalments at Rs. 182-12-5 were paid up to date leaving a balance of Rs. 1,789-0-10.
(d) Any explanation in regard to receipts and expenditure to show the true financial position of the Board when such is otherwise than the ordinary surplus would indicate.	(d) The major portion of the surplus now remains under head latrine fund. A sufficient surplus is now expected under water-rate fund after the completion of the scheme, as the fixation of radius from the nearest stand-pipe or reservoir or other sources of municipal water-supply for the imposition of water-rate has been extended from 1,000 feet to 2,500 feet as has been stated in paragraph (a). If this loan is granted there would be not difficulty in meeting the charges of repayment of loan out of the income from the water-rate fund.

[N.B.—Every school that intends to undertake instruction in Geography for the Matriculation Examination is required to possess the apparatus mentioned in the following list :—

I. (The total cost need not exceed Rs. 65.)

(1) A measuring tape and metre scale and foot-ruler.
(2) A magnetic compass.
(3) Squared paper and tracing paper.
(4) Clay, dry sand, paper pulp for modelling.
(5) A globe not less than 14 inches in diameter, with writing surface, and with line of latitude and longitude and outlines only of the land masses marked upon it.
(6) A map of the school locality on a scale of 4" or 6"=1 mile.
(7) A map of the district in which the school is situated 1"=1 mile.
(8) A coloured map of the province.
(9) A coloured political map of India.
(10) A physical map of India.
(11) A relief map of India.
(12) A map of the world on Mollweild's equal area projection and a map of Asia.

It is essential that the students should be provided with atlases, or with the necessary hand map, and with a drawing instrument box. Maps for school work should not contain too much detail or be crowded with names.

II. The following additional equipment is recommended when it can be provided but the lack of it is not to be considered as a bar to the recognition of the school in Geography :—

(1) A thermometer.
(2) A mercury barometer.
(3) A rain-guage.
(4) A small collection of typical rocks, in particular, those of the province and India.
(5) A small museum of typical products.
(6) A good standard atlas.
(7) Geographical pictures.
(8) Magic lantern and slides.

(1) The attention of teachers is invited to the raised maps of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam made of paper pulp, prepared by Babu Kailaschandra Dutt, Head Pandit, Habigunj Government Girls' School, Sylhet, and sold for Rs. 7 and Rs. 5, respectively.

(2) Globes of all kinds are made by George Phillip and Son, London, W., and A.K. Johnston, London, and Messrs. Ruddiman, London. Small hand globes of German make can be obtained through the Indian School Supply Depot for about a rupee each.

(3) The "Comparative" series of large wall maps of the continents published by George Phillip and Son is good and up to date; so also are the Geographical wall maps published by Edward Standford. Messrs. Ruddiman Johnston publish a series of smaller wall maps which include maps of India illustrating various distributions.

Messrs. Nelson's wall atlases are good. Mr. S. B Chatterjee publishes District Maps; also ordinary and relief maps of the province.

Babu L. M. Basu, the Drawing Master of the Dacca Collegiate School, has published good relief maps of Eastern Bengal and Assam and of India.

The Vidal-Lablache French wall maps on strong card-board, named on one side, and the same map without names on the reverse, published by Armond Collin, Paris, are good and cheap. They measure 46 inches by 39 inches and can be delivered in Calcutta for Rs. 4-14 each.

(4) The hand-maps, coloured to indicate relief, published by the Diagram Company, West Barnes Lane, New Malden, Surrey, at one penny each, are the best of their kind.

The uncoloured half-penny maps, showing river systems and a few towns, published by the same Company, are excellent for class use.

The autograph hand-maps, with hill shading in brown, published by Messrs. Edward Standford, London, at one penny each, are very good, and are larger than the Diagram Company's hand maps. The 15 inches map of the world on Mollwide's equal area projection is especially to be commended.

(5) Wall pictures of considerable artistic merit are published by Messrs. Edward Arnold of Leeds, Horns Hachette of Paris, Messrs. Holzel of Vienna, and Messrs. Longmans, Green and Company. They cost, delivered in India, from two or three rupees each.

Map lantern slides and view slides specially prepared for Geography teaching are sold by the Diagram Company for two or three shillings each. Mr. Burlington Smith of Darjeeling also sells good picture slides of the Himalayas at Rs. 15 per dozen.

NOTE. The above list is not exhaustive, and much of it might be replaced by similar forms that could probably be made far more cheaply by any clever mistry under proper supervision. In most cases, however, it will probably be found advantageous to buy such a set as indicated in the list, specially for demonstration purposes, and subsequently to develop simplified duplicates illustrating the same principles, which the boys should be given opportunity actually to experiment with on their own individual account or working in pairs.

Report on the administration of the Stamp Department in Bengal during the triennium ending the 31st March 1926.

I am directed to submit for the information of the Government of India the following report on the administration of the Stamp Department in Bengal during the three years ending on 31st March 1926.

Financial results.

3. The receipts which in 1922-23, the last year of the preceding triennium, were Rs. 3,14,86,217, steadily rose during the triennium under review, reaching Rs. 3,24,43,623 in 1923-24, Rs. 3,44,79,285 in 1924-25 and Rs. 3,67,18,643 in 1925-26. During the last year of the triennium the receipts, as reported by the Accountant-General, Bengal, plus Rs. 5,79,288 paid to the Calcutta Improvement Trust on account of the excess stamp duty realised under section 82 of the Calcutta Improvement Trust Act, 1911, and Rs. 11,30,000 being the provincial share of the sale proceeds of unified stamps credited to non-postal revenues, amounted to Rs. 3,67,18,643, an increase of Rs. 22,39,358, or 6·5 per cent. as compared with 1924-25 and of Rs. 42,75,020 or 13·1 per cent. as compared with the year 1923-24. The increase occurred both under "Judicial" and "Non-Judicial" stamps.

* * * * * *

A.—Judicial stamps.

6. The sale proceeds of Court-fee stamps (excluding stamps for copies) rose steadily during the past three years. The receipts were Rs. 2,16,73,138 in 1925-26 against Rs. 2,05,44,378 in 1924-25 and Rs. 2,03,74,473 in 1923-24. Compared with 1924-25, there was an increase of Rs. 11,28,760. Of this increase Calcutta alone contributed Rs. 9,86,802. This increase was mainly due to a number of big estates having come under probate or letters of administration. In the mufassal there was a marked increase in the districts of Chittagong (Rs. 64,493), Khulna (Rs. 61,553), the 24-Parganas (Rs. 55,114) and Bogra (Rs. 48,251). In the 24-Parganas and Khulna the increase was due to settlement operations, while in Chittagong and Bogra it is attributed to the institution of a larger number of suits.

The receipts from the sale of stamps for copies rose from Rs. 6,98,343 in 1923-24 to Rs. 7,16,324 in 1924-25 and to Rs. 8,79,187 in 1925-26.

The receipts from the sale of plain papers used with Court-fee labels rose from Rs. 3,33,538 in 1923-24 to Rs. 3,46,802 and Rs. 3,65,484 in the second and the third year of the triennium, respectively.

B.—Non-Judicial stamps.

7. The revenue derived from the sale of "Non-Judicial stamps" during 1925-26 showed an increase of Rs. 9,00,580 or 7 per cent. as compared with 1924-25 and 24·9 per cent. as compared with 1923-24. The increase mainly occurred under the heads of "Impressed stamps" and "Miscellaneous receipts".

8. Impressed stamps.—The receipts under this head (the most important item among Non-Judicial stamps) steadily rose in the triennium under review. In the first year, 1923-24, the receipts were Rs. 59,20,260. They rose to Rs. 65,09,233 and Rs. 74,61,168 in the second and third years of the triennium respectively. The increase which was shared by all the districts, except Calcutta, was due to the registration of a larger number of documents. In the Chittagong Division the cessation of the non-co-operation movement contributed to this increase. The decrease in Calcutta was due to a lesser number of documents in the Bengali language having been registered.

9. Hundis or inland bills-of-exchange.—The revenue derived from the sale of hundi or bill-of-exchange stamps rose from Rs. 1,82,486 in 1923-24 to Rs. 1,94,761 and Rs. 1,96,364 in 1924-25 and 1925-26 respectively.

10. Impressed labels or special adhesive stamps.—The receipts from the sale of these stamps rose from Rs. 29,18,039 in 1923-24 to Rs. 30,27,641 in 1924-25, but fell to Rs. 29,89,115 in the year 1925-26. The sale of these stamps is mainly confined to Calcutta which contributed 99·9 per cent. of the total revenue from this source.

11. Foreign bill stamps.—The receipts from these stamps which are sold mainly in Calcutta were Rs. 3,80,494 in 1925-26 against Rs. 3,98,604 and Rs. 2,95,780 in the two preceding years of the triennium, respectively. The large increase in 1924-25, as compared with 1923-24, was due to the increased activity in foreign trade, while the decrease in 1925-26 was due to the comparative depression of trade.

12. Share transfer stamps.—The sale of these stamps, which are used for payment of stamp duty on transfer of shares of public limited companies, is practically confined to Calcutta. The receipts rose from Rs. 4,78,361 in 1923-24 to Rs. 7,88,999 in 1924-25, but fell to Rs. 5,11,148 in 1925-26. The large increase of Rs. 3,10,638 in 1924-25 was due to the trade boom in Calcutta during that year.

13. Stamps for legal practitioner's license.—The receipts from the sale of these stamps steadily rose from Rs. 1,55,084 in 1923-24 to Rs. 1,64,365 and Rs. 2,10,741 in the second and third years of the triennium.

14. Notarial stamps.—The receipts from the sale of these stamps amounted to Rs. 7,003 in 1925-26 against 7,663 and 7,833 in the two preceding years.

15. Forms for agreements and contracts chargeable with 2-anna coloured impressions.—The revenue from this source, which is confined to Calcutta only, rose from Rs. 5,499 in 1923-24 to Rs. 12,799 and Rs. 12,693 in the years 1924-25 and 1925-26, respectively.

16. Forms for cheques and receipts.—The sale of these forms which are stamped with 1-anna coloured impressions fell from Rs. 3,26,641 in 1923-24 to Rs. 3,16,891 and Rs. 3,06,396 in 1924-25 and 1925-26, respectively. Of the total revenue for 1925-26, Calcutta contributed Rs. 3,02,101 or 98·6 per cent. The decrease was due to trade depression.

17. Miscellaneous receipts.—The receipts under this head are mainly composed of realisations under sections 8 and 35 and sections 32, 37, 40 and 41 of the Stamp Act. The receipts rose from Rs. 2,49,612 in 1923-24 to Rs. 3,40,083 in 1924-25 and to Rs. 5,86,497 in 1925-26. Of the total receipts for 1925-26 Calcutta contributed Rs. 5,26,464 or 90 per cent. The increase in 1925-26 as compared with 1924-25 was Rs. 2,46,414, of which Calcutta contributed Rs. 2,34,112. The increase in Calcutta was mainly due to the floatation of big loans by the Calcutta Improvement Trust, the Calcutta Corporation and the Port Commissioners.

18. Arrangement for sale of stamps. * * * * * The total number of vendors engaged in the sale of stamps during the year 1925-26 was 5,439 against 5,324 and 5,379 in the two preceding years. The discount paid to the vendors in 1925-26 was Rs. 4,78,593 against Rs. 4,37,610 in 1924-25 and Rs. 4,34,367 in 1923-24.

19. Punitive action of the Courts and Revenue Officers.— * * * * The total number of cases dealt with by the Civil Courts increased from 1,418 in 1923-24 to 1,524 in 1924-25, while the number decreased to 1,309 in 1925-26. The duty and penalty realised by the Civil Courts, however, increased from Rs. 12,074 in 1923-24 to Rs. 13,602 in 1924-25 and Rs. 14,488 in 1925-26. There was also an increase in the number of cases dealt with by Revenue Officers, being 4,750 in 1925-26 against 4,217 and 4,498 in the two preceding years of the triennium. The amount realised in these cases was Rs. 97,308 in 1925-26 against Rs. 55,886 and Rs. 74,565 in the two preceding years respectively.

20. * * * * * * * * * * * * * The number of cases instituted in 1925-26 was 253 and the number of persons brought to trial was 98, against 201 and 32 respectively in 1924-25 and 251 and 87 in 1923-24. Compared with the year 1924-25, the number of prosecutions shows an increase of 52. In Calcutta there were 71 cases in 1925-26 against 3 in 1924-25. The amount of fines imposed in Calcutta was Rs. 752 in 1925-26 against Rs. 54 in 1924-25 and Rs. 585 in 1923-24. In Bakarganj the number of cases instituted was 166 against 172 in 1924-25, of which three only were brought to trial and all of them were acquitted. The total fines imposed during the year 1925-26 was Rs. 1,063, against Rs. 404 in the year 1924-25 and Rs. 984 in 1923-24. The amount paid in rewards was Rs. 441 against Rs. 45 in 1924-25 and Rs. 528 in 1923-24. No rewards were paid outside Calcutta.

21. Working of section 19H added to the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870, by Act XI of 1899.— * * * * * * * * The number of cases pending at the beginning of the year 1925-26 was 395 against 457 and 590 in the second and first years of the triennium, respectively. The number of cases reported to the Collectors showed an increase from 1,312 in 1923-24 to 1,331 in 1924-25 and to 1,491 in 1925-26. The number of cases in which enquiries were instituted during the year 1925-26 was 1,704 against 1,645 and 1,752 in 1924-25 and 1923-24, respectively. The number of enquiries completed during the year 1925-26 was 1,371 against 1,304 and 1,370 in the two preceding years. CALCUTTA, THE 19TH NOVEMBER 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 2209 P.H.

READ—

The Report on the Working of the Asansol Mines Board of Health for the year 1925-26.

THE constitution and personnel of the Board remained unchanged during the year.

Nine ordinary and three special meetings were held during the year. One ordinary meeting failed for want of quorum.

2. The total income of the Board, including an opening balance of Rs. 24,806, amounted to Rs. 1,93,401 during the year. The receipts from cess increased from Rs. 1,39,064 to Rs. 1,64,413 during the year, of which Rs. 1,41,668 was collected from mine-owners and Rs. 22,745 from receivers of royalties. The increase was attributed to the increased raisings of coal during the year 1924, based on the average of the three preceding years, as also to the increased number of road cess assessees and the increase in the amount of road cess assessment. Miscellaneous receipts rose from Rs. 1,456 to Rs. 1,913. The total expenditure amounted to Rs 1,03,271, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 90,130. This large balance is explained by (a) better collection of cess during the year and (b) the fact that owing to non-completion of land acquisition proceedings the building programme for the year could not be carried out.

3. A severe outbreak of small-pox threatened the Settlement during the closing months of the year, but it was held in check by wholesale re-vaccination. The total number of cases recorded during the year was 1,129 of which 126 cases proved fatal, as against 202 cases with 28 deaths during the previous year. The number of primary and secondary vaccinations performed during the year was 18,775 and 65,795 as against 16,634 and 16,825, respectively, during the preceding year.

The Settlement was free from malaria, the number of cases and deaths from the disease being much below the average. There was neither any case of plague nor of epidemic dropsy throughout the year. There were altogether 415 cases of cholera with 206 deaths, against 444 seizures with 273 deaths in the previous year. It is satisfactory to note that the spread of the disease was in all cases prevented by the various routine measures of disinfection carried out by the Board's staff, and by the regular administration of the essential oils cholera prophylactic to all house contacts.

The birth-rate increased from 26·02 per mille to 30·20, while there was a satisfactory decrease in the death-rate, which was 16·83 against 18·53 per mille in the preceding year. The total number of births recorded during the year was 9,945 against 8,570 in 1924-25, while the number of recorded deaths decreased from 6,103 to 5,544.

There was a decline in the rate of infantile mortality, which was 120 per thousand of births registered against 138 during the preceding year. The low rate of infantile mortality which continues to compare favourably with that recorded anywhere in India, can safely be attributed to the satisfactory hygienic conditions maintained in the Settlement by the activities of the Mines Board. It is satisfactory to note that as in the previous year not a single maternal death occurred amongst several hundred deliveries attended by the Board's midwives.

The Board continued to pay attention to such special measures as anti-malarial investigation, improvement of rural water-supply, medical inspection of school children and delivery of weekly lectures by the Sanitary Assistant in primary schools on hygiene and public health, while the midwives of the Board, in addition to their specific duties, paid house to house visits and delivered simple lectures on the general principles of cleanliness and domestic hygiene to women of the Settlement.

The sanitary administration of the Settlement area maintained the same degree of efficiency as in the preceding year. The Governor in Council desires once more to congratulate the Board on the high standard of their administration.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. G. DRUMMOND,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

EXCISE POLICY OF THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRIES DEPARTMENT.

Excise.

CALCUTTA, THE 27TH NOVEMBER 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 5568Ex.

IN view of the widespread public interest which has been recently evinced with regard to the consumption of alcoholic liquors and drugs, the Government of Bengal consider that the time is ripe for a restatement of their excise policy and for foreshadowing practical lines of advance towards securing more popular control on licensing questions. The present excise policy of Government is based on the Communique, dated 25th August 1921, in which it was clearly stated that the policy of Government was to impose a high taxation of intoxicating articles with a view to making them as dear as possible for the individual consumer and thereby keeping their consumption at a minimum. This policy has been consistently pursued during the last five years.

2. Facilities for the supply of liquor and drugs have been gradually restricted and shop sites have been continually brought under examination in reference to objections of the local people. Complete control over the price of country spirit, hemp drugs and rice beer has been secured, and minimum prices have been fixed for foreign liquor, while administrative arrangements are such that any tendency towards increased consumption can be immediately checked. No changes in rates of duty or license fees, or alterations in administrative arrangements are sanctioned for the purpose of increasing revenue; on the contrary, it is an essential condition that the restriction of consumption should be a basic and inherent feature in any suggested development.

The following measures taken by Government with a view to carrying out their policy of restriction of. and control over, the consumption of alcoholic liquors and drugs may be specifically mentioned :—

(1) Levy of gradually increasing rates of taxation on these articles with adequate and suitable regulations to control prices for the consumer.
(2) Gradual reduction in the number of places of retail vend.
(3) Effective control over the manufacture and wholesale vend.
(4) Regulation and gradual restriction of hours of sale.
(5) Suppression of illicit traffic as much as possible.

Very recently the rate of duty on ganja has been increased by nearly 50 per cent. and that on charas by nearly 70 per cent.

3. That the measures adopted by Government have proved effective in bringing about a general diminution in the consumption of excisable articles will appear from the statistics given below relating to the consumption of country spirits, ganja and opium for the years 1911-12, 1920-21 and 1925-1926 :—

	Country spirit (L. P. gallons).		Ganja (seers).		Opium (seers).
	Calcutta.	Bengal.	Calcutta.	Bengal.	Calcutta.	Bengal.
1911-12 ...	332,242	796,784	22,422	123,411	21,192	66,729
1920-21 ...	293,965	766 572	12,082	73,625	12,996	42,634
1925-26 ...	182,814	632,351	10,929	71,473	11,545	39,945

4. Statistics of the consumption of foreign liquor (brandy, whisky, beers, etc.) were not maintained previous to the year 1922-23. During the last four years, these statistics have been maintained and are given below in bulk gallons :—

	1922-23.	1923-24.	1924-25.	1925-26.
Foreign spirits ...	229,919	223,207	225,013	223,168
Foreign wines ...	38,354	37,265	37,383	37,767
Foreign beers ...	278,764	233,377	391,717	431,842

It will be seen that although there has been an increase in the consumption of "beers", that of wines and spirits has been kept under adequate control and has not been permitted to increase. The retail sale of pachwai (country rice beer) as well as of toddy (fermented juice of palm) has also been brought under increasingly effective control during the last few years.

5. The figures quoted below will indicate clearly that a policy of gradual reduction in the number of places of vend of these articles with due regard to the requirements of moderate consumers has been steadfastly followed in the case of most of these articles, not only by the Licensing Boards in Calcutta and Howrah, but also in other areas in the Presidency. The apparent small increase in the number of foreign liquor licenses ("on" and "off" shops) in 1925-26 was due to a change in the system of licensing of these premises, and not to an actual increase in the number of licensed premises :—

		Figures of number of shops
		Country spirit.	Opium.	Ganja.	Bhang	Charas.	F. L.	Tari.	Pachwai
1911-12	Bengal ...	1,277	1,022	1,434	232	49	273	820	1,374
1920-21		1,120	835	1,267	261	29	188	620	1,239
1926-27		941	859	1,218	315	34	202	538	1,201
1911-12	Calcutta (excluding Garden Reach.)	111	57	63	35	4	119	117	Nil

1926-27		55	39	42	15	3	77	38	"

6. Of late demands have been put forward from various quarters for the adoption of local option and even of total prohibition. Government have given very careful consideration to these questions, and are now in a position to state their views with regard to these suggestions.

7. So far as total prohibition is concerned, it was pointed out in the Communiqué of 1921 that total prohibition of the manufacture, sale and consumption of excisable articles involved an unjustifiable interference with the liberty of individuals, and Government still adhere to that view. Nor can they disregard the fact that the successful enforcement of actual prohibition among the population is a matter which is open to the gravest doubt and in practice the total denial of facilities is sure to lead to an increase of illicit practices as well as other undesirable effects. These considerations were no doubt present in the minds of the members of the Legislative Council in 1921 when a motion urging prohibition was discussed by that body and was rejected. In these circumstances, Government are not prepared to accept total prohibition as the goal of their excise policy.

8. With regard to local option, it may be pointed out that in actual application the principle of local option means nothing less than permissive local prohibition. It involves a direct election on the question of "license" or "no license," or as an alternative, a proposed reduction of licenses. It would be impossible, in the first place, to obtain a really representative and impartial opinion on these questions in the special circumstances obtaining in Bengal, where in rural areas there is only one shop for a large area, say, for a radius of 7 or 8 miles and sometimes more. Abolition of such a shop would mean the total denial of facilities in that area and therefore prohibition. In a referendum to the villagers over such a large area as to whether a particular shop should be abolished, it would be impossible to obtain a really representative and impartial opinion, as most of the villagers would be ignorant or indifferent on such an issue and the vote would be largely influenced either by the prohibitionists on the one hand or by the trade on the other. With regard to municipal areas, the exercise of local option would in most cases mean nothing more than an alternative between no change and total prohibition, as in most Bengal municipalities there is only one shop of each kind. After careful consideration of the matter in all its bearings, Government are therefore of opinion that in the peculiar circumstances obtaining in this province no practical measure of local option would be feasible.

9. Government are, however, convinced that a definite advance should now be made in the matter of the extension of popular control of licensing, and they have decided to effect this by an extension of the system of licensing boards which have proved successful in the municipal areas of Calcutta, Howrah and Bally. In these municipalities, the licensing boards are ad hoc bodies representing various non-official interests and with a non-official majority. They exercise complete control in the matter of the number and location of shops. These licensing boards have been working satisfactorily for a number of years and have effectively represented public opinion in licensing matters. The Governor in Council has decided on an extension of the system of creating excise licensing boards in the Presidency with definite powers to control the number and location of licensed premises and hours of their working. It has accordingly been decided that licensing boards will immediately be constituted in four selected districts in the Presidency, viz., 24-Parganas, Dacca, Chittagong and Rangpur. These boards will have a majority of non-official members and will have on them representatives of the various elected local bodies in each district, viz., municipalities, district boards, local boards, as well as representatives of temperance organisations. It is hoped that, as a result of this experiment, it will be possible to bring about a wide extension of effective popular control of licensing over the greater part of the province if not over the whole of it in the near future.

10. With regard to opium, the Government of India have, in a recent Resolution, dated the 17th June 1926, made a comprehensive survey of the internal opium policy throughout India. The Government of Bengal have taken measures to reduce the excessive consumption of opium in Calcutta and in the neighbouring districts by increasing the price of the drug by Rs. 20 per seer (or nearly 30 per cent.), and if this measure, which has been recently introduced, does not prove sufficiently effective, they will be prepared to take more drastic steps to reduce the excessive consumption of the drug in these areas.

In addition to the steps mentioned above for the reduction of opium consumption in areas where excessive consumption of this drug exists at present, the Government of Bengal have further decided that steps should be taken to collect more accurate information regarding the origin, nature and extent of opium consumption in the province, and with this object in view they have directed that in selected areas the sale of opium will be conducted under arrangements which will permit of the maintenance of a record of the nature of the demand, from its medicinal as well as other aspects.

11. With regard to opium smoking, the ratification by the Government of India of the first Geneva Convention of 1925 places on this Government an obligation to take immediate steps to suppress the smoking of opium at the earliest possible date. The Governor in Council has therefore decided that legislation be undertaken at once to penalise opium smoking by other than registered smokers. It is proposed to compile a register of those who are already addicted to this vice, and after a date to be subsequetnly fixed, no addition to the list of addicts will be permitted, and smoking will therefore be stamped out with the present generation of smokers.

Whereas the election of the Hon'ble Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri by the East Bengal (Non-Muhammadan) Constituency as a Member of the Council of State has been called in question by an election petition duly presented under the provisions of Part VII of the Council of State Electoral Rules by Pandit Santi Sekhareswar Roy, and whereas the Governor-General has been pleased, in pursuance of the provisions of rules 36 (2) and 38 of the said rules, to appoint—

Given under my hand and the seal of the Court this the 26th day of November 1926.

C. BARTLEY,

President of the Commission

Election Petition.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA, GOVERNMENT HOUSE, SIMLA.

Petitioner.

Pandit Santi Sekhareswar Roy, M.A., son of Raja Sasi Sekhareswar Roy Bahadur, post-office Tahirpur, district Rajshahi, Bengal.

Respondents.

1. The Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri, Teota, district Dacca. (Returned candidate.)
2. Rai Bahadur Keshab Chandra Banerjee, Walter Road, Dacca.
3. Mr. J. Choudhuri, Haripur, Pabna, at present 3, Hastings Street, Calcutta.
4. Raja Mahendra Ranjan Roy Choudhuri, Kakina, police-station Kotwali, post-office Kakina, district Rangpur.
5. Dr. Jatindra Nath Maitra, M.B., Sukdebpur, post-office Khanganj, district Faridpur.
6. Mr. Indubhusan Dutt, Comilla. (Withdrawn.)

May it please your Excellency—

The humble petition of Santi Sekhareswar Roy, M.A., Tahirpur, district Rajshahi, a candidate in the bye-election for the East Bengal Non-Muhammadan Constituency for the Council of State held in July-August 1926, most respectfully sheweth :—

1. That the Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri was declared duly elected as a member of the Council of State on the 16th August 1926, by the Returning Officer, the Commissioner of Dacca.

2. That the aforesaid Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri filed his return of election expenses on 17th September 1926.

3. That your Excellency's humble petitioner, a candidate in the bye-election, by this election petition calls in question the election of the returned candidate the Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri and claims a declaration that your humble petitioner has been duly elected. A sum of one thousand rupees in cash is deposited herewith as security for the costs of the petition.

4. That the nomination of the returned candidate the Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri was improperly accepted by the Returning Officer. The nomination paper of the aforesaid Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri was not duly completed in the form prescribed in Schedule III of the Council of State Electoral Rules. The following entry in his nomination paper in respect of the constituency on the electoral of which the aforesaid Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri is registered as an elector is incorrect : East Bengal Non-Muhammadan Constituency of the Council of State, Dacca district.

5. That the returned candidate the Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri, though a member of the Indian Legislative Assembly at the time, published the following false statement of fact in relation to his candidature in his printed letter sent to the electors and which was also published in the Forward newspaper of Calcutta on the 7th July 1926, and other subsequent days : "During the last election, when the late Deshbandhu C. R. Das wanted somebody to keep a seat safe for him in the Legislative Assembly so that he might go there later on, I offered myself temporarily for the seat to which I was elected by the kindness of my constituents and I continued there only because Deshbandhu later on decided to go to the Bengal Council. So long as I was in the Assembly as a representative of the Rajshahi and Chittagong Divisions I looked after the interests of my constituency as best as I could, and it was somewhat due to my interpellations that the traffic surveys of the Pabna-Sadhuganj and the Aricha-Dacca Railways were expedited." He has thereby committed a corrupt practice specified in Part I of Schedule V of the Council of State Electoral Rules.

6. That the Returning Officer improperly accepted the nomination of Rai Bahadur Keshab Chandra Banerjee.

The nomination papers of the aforesaid Rai Bahadur Keshab Chandra Banerjee were not correctly completed in the form prescribed in Schedule III of the Council of State Electoral Rules.

(a) The address of the candidate as stated in the nomination papers does not tally with the address printed in the electoral roll.

(b) In two of the nomination papers delivered to the Returning Officer on the 10th July 1926, a description of the subdivision of the electoral roll in which the name of the candidate, the proposer and the seconder is entered is not given.

(c) The third nomination paper delivered to the Returning Officer on the 16th July 1926 was signed by the proposer and the seconder on a date subsequent to the date on which the candidate Rai Bahadur Keshab Chandra Banerjee is said to have subscribed his assent to the nomination.

7. That your humble petitioner prays that on the grounds stated above the election of the Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri may be declared void and that your humble petitioner to whom the largest number of votes has been given among the candidates validly nominated may be declared elected. And for this act of kindness your Excellency's humble petitioner as in duty bound shall ever pray.

(Sd.) SANTI SEKARESWAR ROY.

The 22nd September 1926.

I, Santi Sekhareswar Roy, the above-named petitioner, do hereby verify that the statements contained in the above petition are true to my knowledge and information which I believe to be true, and I sign this verification at my residence at Kedarghat Benares City, on 22nd September 1926.

(Sd.) SANTI SEKHARESWAR ROY.

The 22nd September 1926.

List under Rule 33 (2) of the Council of State Electoral Rules.

The returned candidate the Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri, Teota, district Dacca, sent on or about the 7th July 1926, from 44, European Asylum Lane, Calcutta, a printed letter to the electors which contains the following false statement of fact in relation to his candidature. The letter was also published in the Forward newspaper of Calcutta, on the 7th July 1926, and other subsequent days :—

" During the last election, when the late Deshbandhu C. R. Das wanted somebody to keep a seat safe for him in the Legislative Assembly so that he might go there later on, I offered myself temporarily for the seat to which I was elected by the kindness of my constituents, and I continued there only because Deshbandhu later on decided to go to the Bengal Council. So long as I was in the Assembly as a representative of the Rajshahi and Chittagong Divisions I looked after the interests of my constituency as best as I could and it was somewhat due to my interpellations that the traffic surveys of the Pabna-Sadhuganj and the Aricha-Dacca Railways were expedited."

In the above statement the Hon'ble Mr. Kumar Sankar Roy Choudhuri used expressions signifying that he had ceased to be a member of the Legislative Assembly, though he was as the time a member of the Legislative Assembly representing the Chittagong-Rajshahi Divisions (Non-Muhammadan) Constituency.

The 22nd September 1926.

I, Santi Sekhareswar Roy, the above-named petitioner, do hereby verify that the statements contained in the above list are true to my knowledge and information which I believe to be true, and I sign this verification at my residence at Kedarghat, Benares City, on 22nd September 1926.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS ON THE OPERATION OF THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT TRUST, 1921-22, 1922-23, 1923-24, 1924-25 and 1925-26.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT.

MUNICIPALITIES.

CALCUTTA, THE 17TH NOVEMBER 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 3942M.

READ—

The reports on the operation of the Calcutta Improvement Trust, 1921-22, 1922-23, 1923 24, 1924-25 and 1925-26.

1. General.—Government (Ministry of Local Self-Government) in 1922 reviewed the work of the Improvement Trust for the triennium ending 1920-21; it is now proposed to review briefly its operations during the succeeding quinquennium. There has been steady progress during this period, although the circumstances, which for so many years past have retarded the operations of the Trust, have not yet ceased to exercise an adverse influence. During the long years of the war, the cost of engineering materials, even when they were obtainable, rose to great heights, while the flotation of loans was impossible. The Trust's investments in Government securities were depreciated, and there was prolonged litigation regarding its rights to acquire surplus lands. The improvement of the outlying areas such as Maniktala was postponed, as doubts were thrown upon the legal capacity of the Trust to undertake schemes outside Calcutta; this delay, though unavoidable, has proved most unfortunate, and the work of the Trust has undoubtedly suffered from its inability in the early years of its existence to prepare Maniktala for the reception of the people displaced from congested areas in Calcutta proper. When building ceased to keep abreast of the demand for accommodation, the Trust was compelled to suspend some of its improvements in order to meet the demand for re-housing schemes which, for the most part, though several experiments were made, have been unpopular with the classes for whom they were designed. With the end of the war came the land boom which ended in September 1920. The Trust was compelled by the force of circumstances to press forward with its programme, so long held in abeyance, at the very moment when land values had soared to their greatest heights, and it is now in the position of having to sell its large holdings of surplus lands when Calcutta is still suffering from the aftermath of unbridled land speculation. For some years the Trust had carried on its work without resort to borrowing, relying for the cost of capital works on the annual surplus of receipts over expenditure. The large balances, however, which were built up from surpluses in the early years of the Trust, have been exhausted, and in recent years the Trust has relied mainly on loans for its capital expenditure and has thus made large inroads on its borrowing capacity. In a later paragraph of this review, the financial position of the Trust will be examined in more detail; it is sufficient to mention at this point that in 1922 the Trust came to the decision that the development of the suburban areas, Cossipore-Chitpore and Maniktala, which have since been incorporated in Calcutta, was no longer financially possible, although on the other hand it was decided that a cautious beginning might be made with the improvement of Barabazar. It will be seen hereafter that Barabazar still presents special problems, while the desirability of presenting Cossipore-Chitpore and Maniktala with a drainage system has again been forced on the attention of the Trust by proposals to modify and expand the drainage system of Calcutta which would provide for these two suburbs the outfall they require.

2. Improvement schemes.—During the years under review, the Trust has undertaken several improvement schemes of the first importance. The chief of these was the continuation of the great north and south thoroughfare (Central Avenue) to Chowringhee. The execution of this scheme began when land values were high, and large amounts have been locked up in the acquisition of surplus lands, which at the moment are not readily saleable. Linked up with this important scheme, is the widening of Bentinck Street, which obtains access to Central Avenue through the widened Sooterkins Lane. Bentinck Street for many years had undergone very little change, but the improvement scheme is likely within a short time entirely to transform the character of this locality. The Improvement Trust has also pressed on with its big scheme for linking up Chetla with the Ballygunge Railway Station, and an insanitary and thinly-populated area is being laid out as a suburb, which before long may rival the improved portion of Bhowanipore. Considerable progress has been made with the execution of Park Street and Theatre Road Extension Scheme, and what was formerly a squalid undrained bustee area has now been laid out on a proper plan, with an adequate system of roads, while the needs of the future have been provided for by means of a large open space. This area before long will be linked up with the Ballygunge maidan by a wide road for which a scheme has recently been sanctioned, and with the widening of Ballygunge Circular Road and Gariahat Road a fine circular route will ultimately be provided between the east of Calcutta and the south of Russa Road. As stated above, Barabazar presents problems which the Trust has not yet been able to solve. A scheme was sanctioned by Government for the improvement of a small part of the area measuring roughly 10 acres. Its net cost was estimated at Rs. 30 lakhs, and as the closely built up area known as Barabazar comprises roughly 100 acres, improvement of the whole on a similar scale might cost anything between 2 or 3 crores. Nor do the difficulties end with the provision of this large amount, since a very much larger sum must be invested in the purchase of lands from which recoupment might only slowly be obtained. The Trust, although the first section of its scheme had been worked out in very great detail and finally sanctioned by Government, was compelled to revise its programme and to defer the execution of this project. It may be, as the Trust has been advised, that improvement schemes in Barabazar can be executed at a comparatively small net cost, but the initial expenditure must be so heavy that the Improvement Trust at present cannot contemplate the execution of a series of ordinary improvement schemes of this locality, such as it has carried out with great success in other parts of Calcutta. Government understand indeed that the Trustees have been forced to the conclusion that their operations in Barabazar must be limited to the provision of some main arterial roads, and that even so, some modifications in the law of betterment may be necessary. In this connection it is pertinent to recognise the assistance which the forces of law and order obtained in the recent riots from the existence of Central Avenue. The operations of the military and the police pivoted in an extraordinary degree on this broad thoroughfare and indicated that the construction of one or two north and south and east and west arterial roads through Barabazar proper would afford material assistance to the authorities in the prevention of disturbances. It is understood that the Improvement Trust is now considering expedients for proceeding with the improvement of Barabazar ; the Governor in Council will be glad to give his most careful consideration to any reasonable proposal which the Board may make for the amendment of the law with the object of overcoming the special difficulties of this problem.

Other notable schemes executed or in progress in the years under review were the following, viz : —

(1) the widening of Park Street, the necessity of which has grown more apparent as the street has been steadily transformed from a residential locality into a shopping thoroughfare ;

(2) the continuation of the Diamond Harbour Road widening which has added enormously to the amenities of a particularly squalid neighbourhood and has extended the traffic facilities for which the new Kidderpore Bridge provided. The improvements effected in the vicinity of the scheme leave the main portion of insanitary Kidderpore untouched, but are a sufficient indication of the wide field which this neglected area offers to the Trust ;

(3) the widening of Dalhousie Square (West) which now carries a volume of traffic that formerly produced most serious congestion in Old Court House ;

(4) Chitpore Spur : the first instalment of a fine diagonal linking up Central Avenue with the proposed Howrah Bridge Approach Road and thus with Old Court House Street ;

(5) Maniktala Spur : a main road 84 feet in width and about ½ mile in length leading from the Central Avenue to Upper Circular Road.

This scheme is practically completed, and when the Maniktala Bridge now under construction is ready and Maniktala Road (in Maniktala) is widened, as proposed by the Trust, the spur will furnish an adequate link between Maniktala and the central area of Calcutta. No thoroughfare will contribute more than this to the development of Maniktala as a business and residential area ;

(6) several open spaces have been provided. The Cossipore-Chitpore Park with an area of 225 bighas cost the Trust over fifty lakhs for acquisition ; levelling, filling-up and planting are still in progress. It will ultimately be the maidan of Northern Calcutta. The Ratan Sarkar Garden Street playground in the very heart of Barabazar has proved the value of the smallest open space in a congested area. The Amherst Street Park is under construction, St. James Square has been completed, and the Kalighat Tramways Depôt Square is almost ready for transfer to the Corporation.

Apart from its street scheme, the Trust has been active in its use of section 63 of Act V of 1911 and has aligned a large number of proposed roads. Its main object has been to pave the way for a system of main traffic.

Generally speaking, the planning of subsidiary roads must await the execution of development or improvement schemes. It is clear that the elaborate system of alignments which the Board has planned involves enormous financial commitments, and it is essential that the Board should carefully watch the movements of population and the tendencies to build in different areas, so that steps may be taken to convert an alignment into a street scheme as soon as the acquisition of isolated plots of land becomes uneconomical. The original joint report (drawn up by Mr. Maden, Chief Engineer of the Trust, and Mr. Shrosbree, Chief Valuer) in 1913 proposed a programme involving the construction of 41·81 miles of new and widened roads (including those required for Maniktala). The net cost of the programme was estimated at Rs. 5½ crores. It has since been revised and re-cast, and the long series of alignments which have been prepared and the schemes already executed or under execution show large divergences from the original programme.

By the end of 1925, the Trust had constructed 24·06 miles of new roads and widened 13·52 miles of road. A great many of these roads are subsidiary or development roads with a width of 40 feet, while only 5·58 miles of road 80 feet wide or over have so far been constructed. The Trust programme of alignments provides—in addition to the work already done—for 38·74 miles of roads, of which 6·88 miles are to be 60 feet wide and 25·30 miles to be 80 feet wide or more.

It is roads 60 feet wide or more that count in a modern city, and the programme of 1913 with its total road length of 41·81 miles dealt mainly with arterial roads of this character.

It is clear that the work already executed, important and valuable though it is, constitutes but a small part of the great task committed to the Trust. Yet the capital expenditure of the Trust up-to-date on roads, open spaces and surplus lands amounts to over Rs. 6 crores, against which the only realizable assets are the surplus lands estimated at about Rs. 2½ crores, which the Trust is now endeavouring to sell.

3. Finance.—The Trust has in fact reached a critical stage in its finances. Experience has shown that the income of the Trust is not really adequate for its gigantic task, but it is not likely to obtain new sources of revenue, and it is therefore necessary to consider how its existing revenues can be most prudently spent. Large inroads have already been made on its borrowing capacity, and there is danger, as the Board itself realizes, in capitalizing its remaining free surplus of income over expenditure, which amounts to about Rs. 13 lakhs. The Board, after meeting loan charges and other recurring expenditure on establishment, rent, taxes, etc., has an annual surplus which is available for capital works. If the life of the Board is prolonged, the total amount thus available over a long series of years (say) 40, will evidently be a much larger sum than the Trust could obtain by devoting the whole of that surplus to the service of a loan maturing at the end of that period. The immediate capitalization of its remaining annual surplus by means of a loan with a thirty years' currency would yield under two crores of rupees—a quite insufficient sum for the work which has still to be done.

Judging from past experience, the Trust requires a working capital of at least Rs. 60 lakhs per annum, and the Governor in Council is disposed to think that this result may be achieved, if the Trust can sell its huge holding of surplus lands valued at roughly Rs. 2½ crores within the next five or six years, using the receipts along with the recurring annual surplus to execute new schemes, and thereby render additional surplus lands available for sale. But if the Trust is to complete its task and tide over difficulties which the heavy rates of interest paid for its loans and the depression of the land market have combined to produce, it must undoubtedly concentrate on the larger schemes, which it alone can undertake and refuse to be diverted from its main objects by the lure of lesser schemes, which attract by their popularity, their promise of recoupment, and their comparative lack of difficulty. It is by the big works that the Trust will be judged—its Central Avenue or its Russa Road—and not the widening of Park Street; by the Cossipore-Chitpore open space, and not St. James Square; by the improvement of Maniktala, and not the lay-out of the purlieus of Russa Road.

There is a vast field for the operations of such a body as the Trust in almost every quarter of Calcutta. There is the ever-present danger of forgetting the wood in the contemplation of the trees, and the Governor in Council believes that the measure of success which the Board ultimately attains will depend upon its steady pursuit of a well-considered programme which it refuses to jettison in order to save cheaper wares.

The Governor in Council desires to congratulate Mr. Emerson and Mr. Marr, who held the Chairmanship of the Trust during the period under review, on the steady progress which the Trust has made. As pointed out, the task before the Trust is a heavy one and fraught with many difficulties, but if the finances of the Board are prudently managed there is good reason for believing that the major portion of the big programme which the Trustees have set out to execute will ultimately be carried through.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. F. B. 868, dated Calcutta, the 21st August 1926.

From—J. E. ARMSTRONG, ESQ., O.B.E., officiating Commissioner of Police, Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Local Self-Government Department (Municipal Branch).

I have the honour to submit herewith the report of the Chief Officer of the Calcutta Fire Brigade for the financial year ending 31st March 1926.

The Chief Officer's report gives full details of the working of the Brigade.

No. F. B. 842, dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1926.

From—CAPTAIN BERNARD A. WESTBROOK, Chief Officer, Fire Brigade, Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Local Self-Government Department (Municipal Branch).

(Through J. E. ARMSTRONG, ESQ., O.B.E., officiating Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.)

I have the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Calcutta Fire Brigade during the year ending the 31st March 1926.

The following are the most noteworthy occurrences during the year under review :—

On the 2nd April 1925, a serious fire took place at Nos. 6 and 7, Dhurrumtollah Street, at 9-45 P.M. The upper portion of the building was used as a celluloid film store in which some 9,000,000 feet of films were stored, and on the ground floor were various cloth shops and stores. The fire broke out in the film store and spread with remarkable rapidity. The first intimation the Fire Brigade had of the fire was the glare seen by a look-out man at the Fire Brigade headquarters. This was followed almost immediately by fire alarm and telephone messages.

The building was situated in a very congested area. It was separated on the west by a narrow passage only from another film store containing almost as much film, and on the two other sides other inflammable buildings were in close proximity.

The fire was confined to the premises of origin, with the exception of slight damage to the adjoining premises caused by heat. The damage amounted to over Rs. 6,00,000.

On the 4th April 1925, at 3-25 A.M., a fire in a timber yard at Nimtala gave considerable trouble, principally owing to a very late call being received. The timber yard is situated some three miles from the Fire Brigade headquarters, but the first intimation the Fire Brigade had of the fire was the report of the Fire Brigade look-out man who saw the reflection.

On arrival, owing to the intense heat great difficulty was experienced in stopping the fire spreading, and several of the firemen were more or less seriously burned. Fortunately a good supply of water was available, and in a short time seven fire engines were got to work and succeeded in preventing the fire from spreading. The timber yard is in the centre of a very congested area which forms a danger zone.

The other timber stores on the opposite side of the streets on the west and south were actually ignited, but the damage to them was nominal.

The total damage amounted over Rs. 1,00,000, and the damage caused by the two fires mentioned above accounts for over half of the damage which accrued during the whole year.

But for the late call received in the second case the damage would probably have been slight.

On January 23rd, 1926, the Fire Brigade was called to assist in the rescue of some men who were gassed in a sewer in Howrah. Unfortunately the information was not given to the Brigade until a considerable time had elapsed after the men were found to be missing, and on arrival at the scene no definite information could be obtained as to the whereabouts of the men. Search was made and eventually seven bodies were recovered. Artificial respiration was tried without result.

Apart from the foregoing the work during the year has been of a normal nature.

2. Financial statement.—The statement of receipts and expenditure and payments made by the municipalities within the jurisdiction of the Fire Brigade and Licensed Warehouse Act, I of 1893, is given in Appendix I.

3. Fires, etc.—The total number of calls for fires or supposed fires was 595, being an increase of 36 as compared with the previous year and an increase of 169 over the average for the past fifteen years.

The number of false alarms given wilfully has increased from 63 during the preceding year to 115 in the year under review.

False alarms due to electrical defects have decreased from 47 to 32, and false alarms caused by lightning on the fire alarm circuits have increased from 4 to 14.

Included in the number of false alarms given wilfully are 3 false alarms given from private telephones through the Telephone Exchange. In such cases suitable action has been taken by the Bengal Telephone Company.

The number of actual fires is 23 less than that in the preceding year.

The calls are classified as follows :—

Fires	417
False alarms, wilful	115
False alarms, with good intent	13
False alarms due to electrical defects	32
False alarms caused by lightning on the fire alarm circuits	14
Calls for special service	4
	595

On 110 days one fire or supposed fire occurred ...	110
On 73 „ 2 fires or supposed fires occurred	146
On 48 „ 3 ditto	144
On 23 „ 4 ditto	92
On 9 „ 5 ditto	45
On 5 „ 6 ditto	30
On 4 „ 7 ditto	28
	595

The actual number of calls received during the year was 964 as compared with 773 in the previous year. These figures include instances where more than one call was received for the same fire, and are given so that the means by which these calls were received can be classified.

These calls were transmitted as follows :—

Four hundred and nineteen (314 in 1924-25) by street fire Alarms; 470 (389 in 1924-25) from private telephones through the Bengal Telephone Company's and Government Exchanges; 24 (25 in 1924-25) from police and direct fire telephones; 23 (21 in 1924-25) by messengers giving information at Fire Brigade stations, and 28 (15 in 1924-25) from Fire Brigade look-out men at the various stations.

Twenty-nine fires occurred in premises licensed under the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, as compared with 25 in the previous year.

In 217 cases fires were extinguished by means of first-aid machines, chemical fire extinguishers, buckets of water, by individual firemen, or by the occupants before the arrival of the Fire Brigade; in 66 cases by one motor fire-engine; in 33 cases of electrical fires the switches were cut out; in 31 cases sand was used; in 24 cases by lines of hose from hydrants; in 14 cases by two motor pumps; in six cases by one motor pump and hydrants; in five cases by two motor pumps and hydrants; in five cases by the fire-float only; in four cases by three motor pumps; in four cases by two motor pumps and fire-float; in two cases by two motor pumps, hydrants and fire-float; in one case by fire-float and ship's appliances; in one case by one motor pump and fire-float; in one case by two motor pumps and fire-float; in one case by hydrants and first-aid machines; in one case by seven motor pumps There were two cases of burning rubbish where appliances were not used.

4. Fire loss.—The total damage caused by fire and water during the year has been estimated at Rs. 11,38,812 as compared with Rs. 3,10,308 during the previous year, being an increase of Rs. 8,28,504. The average damage per fire is Rs. 1,914 as compared with an average of Rs. 3 304 during the past fifteen years.

The average fire loss per annum during the past fifteen years is Rs. 14,02,282.

The fire loss per fire is classified as follows :—

279 fires under Rs. 100.
85 ,, from Rs. 100 to Rs. 1,000.
35 ,, ,, Rs. 1,000 to Rs. 5,000.
13 ,, ,, Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 20,000.
2 ,, ,, Rs. 20,000 to Rs. 1,00,000.
3 ,, above Rs. 1,00,000

5. The following summaries are given in the appendices as under :—

6. Appliances.—The following is a list of the principal appliances now in commission by the Calcutta Fire Brigade.

Fourteen motor fire-engines, as follows :—

One motor pump, 600-800 gallons per minute capacity fitted with scaling ladders, etc. (Motor pump No. 2.)

Two motor pumps, 500-700 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with 55 feet telescopic fire escapes, first-aid cylinders and reels, scaling ladders, etc. (Motor pumps Nos. 1 and 15.)

Two motor pumps, 450-550 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with telescopic ladders, first-aid cylinders and reels, scaling ladder, etc. (Motor pumps Nos. 9 and 10.)

Three motor pumps, 450 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with scaling ladders, etc. (Motor pumps Nos. 8, 11 and 14.)

Three motor pumps, 400-500 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with telescopic ladders, first-aid cylinders and reels, etc. (Motors pumps Nos. 5, 6 and 7.)

One motor pump, 350-450 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with ladder, scaling ladders, etc. (Motor pump No. 4.)

One motor pump, 250 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with telescopic ladder, first-aid cylinder and reel, etc. (specially designed for use in narrow streets and congested areas. (Motor pump No. 6.)

One motor trailer pump, 250 gallons per minute capacity specially designed for use in positions that cannot be reached by the ordinary type of motor fire-engine).

One mechanically operated 85 feet motor turntable ladder, one motor emergency tender, fitted with telescopic ladder, scaling ladders, etc., carrying smoke helmets and breathing apparatus, spare hose, and all apparatus necessary for salvage and demolition work, one motor lorry, two motor cars, two hand-drawn steam fire-engines, one 60 feet turntable ladder converted for towing behind motors, 26 hook ladders, 54 scaling ladders, 7 smoke helmets and breathing apparatus, 53,625 feet of 2½-inch unlined canvas hose, etc.

They are distributed as follows :—

Headquarters.—Five motor fire-engines (Nos. 2, 5, 8, 9 and 15); one motor trailer pump; one motor emergency tender; one motor lorry; two motor cars; 16 hook ladders; 20 scaling ladders; 5 smoke helmets; and 13,500 of 2½-inch canvas hose.

Central Avenue.—Four fire-engines (Nos. 1, 3, 10 and 11); one 85-foot mechanically operated motor turntable ladder; one 60-foot turntable ladder; 7 hook ladders; 20 scaling ladders; 2 smoke helmets; and 12,175 feet of canvas hose.

Chitpore.—Two motor fire-engines (Nos. 4 and 7); 2 hook ladders and 6 scaling ladders; and 6,750 feet of canvas hose.

Howrah.—Two motor fire-engines (Nos. 6 and 14); 1 hand-drawn steam fire-engine; 1 hook ladder; 9 scaling ladders; and 6,375 feet of canvas hose.

Garden Reach.—One hand-drawn steam fire-engine and 1,725 feet of canvas hose.

During the year the one remaining horse-drawn steam fire-engine has been disposed of.

One new motor fire-engine and one fire service tender fitted with Tamini motor pump have been placed in commission.

It is estimated that the motor appliances travelled 13,244 miles during the year going to and returning from calls.

7. Fire Station.—Appendix V gives the number of times each fire station has been turned out in response to fire calls, together with monthly statements.

Fire Bridage headquarters is still located in rented quarters in Corporation Place, and economy could undoubtedly be effected if a convenient site were purchased and suitable buildings erected thereon.

In this connection a reserve building fund is being created by placing a sum of money yearly to this fund, and at present Rs. 60,000 is invested in 5 per cent. Government Bonds. It is proposed to provide for another Rs. 30,000 during the forthcoming year.

The premises occupied at present are unsuitable, and the accommodation is most inadequate. Further, no drill yard is available at this station, and the men have to be drilled on the public thoroughfare.

The large rent paid is a considerable tax on the Fire Brigade funds, and it is hoped that a suitable site will be secured at no far distant date and proper premises erected.

During the coming year it is anticipated that the hand-drawn steam fire engine at the Garden Reach fire station will be replaced by a motor fire-engine and a suitable staff provided

This station protects a large area including the Docks, Garden Reach, Matiabruz, and the new added area extending over many miles.

For the better protection of the Burra Bazar area and the district to the north thereof, including Nimtolla, Sova Bazar, etc., a new fire station is urgently required. Endeavours will be made to find a suitable site, and an estimate will be submitted at a later date.

At present, owing to the congestion of traffic in this part of the city, much valuable time is often wasted in arriving at a fire.

8. Staff.—The strength of the Brigade remains the same as at the commencement of the year, viz., 225.

The conduct and discipline throughout the year has been excellent.

On the 31st March 1926, the Second Officer, Mr. W. Jarrett, proceeded on leave on medical grounds, and it is probable on the expiration of this leave he will apply for pension.

Mr. Jarrett joined the Fire Brigade in 1904, and has rendered excellent service ever since.

In 1920 he was promoted to Second Officer, and on various occasions he has officiated as Chief Officer in a very competent manner.

It is to be regretted that ill health has rendered it necessary for him to sever his connection with the department in which he took the keenest interest.

Mr. A. Frederick (late officiating Chief Engineer) has been promoted officiating Second Officer, and Mr. C. Meyers (late Inspector of Warehouses, etc.) has been promoted to the rank of officiating Chief Engineer.

9. Fatalities and accidents.—During the year under review the total number of lives lost at fires was 13 (of which 3 were cases of suicide by burning) as compared with 11 during the previous year. Twenty-six persons were injured at fires. (See Appendix VI.) In all cases first aid was rendered, and the injured person conveyed to hospitals where necessary.

Seven persons who were asphyxiated in sewer at Howrah on the 23rd January 1926 are not included in the foregoing figures.

10. Horses.—At the commencement of the year three horses were in commission. These have now been disposed of, together with all horse-drawn appliances, so the Brigade is now completely motorised.

11. Water-supply.—It is with considerable satisfaction I am able to report a very great improvement in the water supply so far as the city of Calcutta is concerned. Electrically driven pumps have been installed in the pumping stations at Mullick Ghat and Watgunge, and throughout the year practically no trouble has been experienced with water in the area referred to.

On several occasions it has been necessary to close down the pumping stations for a period of several hours to make necessary alterations in the distributing mains, etc. This has caused considerable anxiety, as should a serious fire occur during the time the water is not available a conflagration must inevitably result.

Elaborate arrangements were made to endeavour to deal with any emergency during these periods, such as conveying over a mile of hose on a Fire Brigade lorry to calls, equipping all fire-engines with all available chemical fire extinguishers, and locating motor pumps so that they would be available to pump in relays to any part of the city, should the occasion demand. I am happy to say that all cases of fire which occurred during the periods mentioned were dealt with by means of first-aid apparatus, and no serious fires developed.

It is anticipated that such shut-downs will have to take place on three or four more occasions before the mains and distributing mains are relaid in accordance with the plans of the Corporation, and everything possible will be done to safeguard the city.

Supervision in maintaining the hydrants, etc., in a good and proper state or repair appears to be considerably lacking, as on many occasions difficulty has been experienced through hydrants being out of order, thus causing delay in getting to work at fires.

Until proper supervision is exercised and regular inspections are made by competent Corporation officials, the difficulty with hydrants will continue as the class of Indians employed in street watering (for which the unfiltered water-supply is issued) is extremely careless, and apparently fails to report hydrants which are out of order.

I regret to say that the conditions appertaining to Cossipur-Chitpore and Howrah remain the same, and the remarks made in previous reports in the connection apply in their entirety.

In these areas no system of water-supply is provided, and the Fire Brigade has to rely upon tanks in the locality. These tanks are gradually being filled up as the ground becomes more valuable, and the sites are then used for building purposes. Thus the situation is becoming worse and worse, with the result that the greatest difficulty is often experienced in dealing with fires in these areas. It is no unusual occurrence to use as many as 300 lengths of hose, as the supply of water often is at such a great distance from a fire.

Unless action is taken the time will soon arrive when the Fire Brigade will be powerless, and extremely serious fires must result.

I understand that a scheme has been drawn up for the installation of mains in the Chitpur-Cossipore area, and I trust this will be expedited as much as possible.

12. Fire Float.—The fire float (5,000 gallons per minute capacity) is stationed on the river opposite to Princep's Ghat. On several occasions it has saved serious situations by pumping water from the river to feed the land fire-engines.

It was turned out on 26 occasions during the year under review.

13. Street fire-alarms, telephones and electrical communication.—I am pleased to report that all street fire-alarms, telephone, etc., have been maintained in a good and satisfactory state of repair and efficiency by the Bengal Telephone Company, and the thanks of the Fire Brigade are due to the telephone operators and the staff of the Company for their prompt attention and ready assistance on all occasions.

Four hundred and nineteen calls were received over the fire-alarm system, and the rapidity by which a fire call can be transmitted direct to the Fire Brigade by this means has undoubtedly saved many a serious fire. It is evident that the fire-alarm system is thoroughly appreciated by the public.

Regarding wilful false alarms given over the fire-alarm system I regret to state that no less than 115 have been received. This is an increase of 52 over that received during the previous year.

It is hoped that the public will co-operate with the Fire Brigade in checking this mischievous and dangerous practice by detaining anyone they may see giving a wilful false alarm until the arrival of the Fire Brigade, when suitable action will be taken.

It should be remembered that during the time fire appliances are responding to such false alarms they are not available for actual fire calls, and serious situations may result owing to such machines not being available.

14. Inspection Department.—Theatres, etc., are now inspected by an official appointed by the Corporation. This official is not under the direction of the Fire Brigade. It is hoped that a proper standard of efficiency will be maintained as the lives of a great proportion of the population are endangered when attending theatres, etc., if the bye-laws for safeguarding such premises against fires are not adequately carried out. This particularly applies in the Indian portion of the city where the theatres are of a very inflammable nature, and over-crowding is prevalent.

In connection with the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, 1 of 1893, 5,975 inspections of warehouses have been made during the year; 500 applications for license and complaints have been attended to and disposed of; 288 prosecutions were made under section 14 of Act I of 1893, which resulted in 152 persons being fined amounts aggregating in all Rs. 1,604 ; 30 persons being warned, 17 discharged, 26 withdrawn and acquitted, and 63 cases being filed, no trace being found of the accused.

15. General.—The Calcutta Fire Brigade protects the city of Calcutta and the municipality of Howrah, and may attend fires outside the boundaries of the above (but not exceeding a radius of 6 miles from the central fire station), provided that appliances can be spared, on payment of a prescribed fee, thus covering an area of some 120 square miles.

16. Ambulance Department.—The motor ambulance service has been of great value to the general public and responded to 12,721 calls during the year.

The staff of the department consists of 10 drivers and 20 attendants with 12 motor ambulances.

The service is financially maintained by Government and the Corporation of Calcutta in the proportion of one-third and two-thirds, respectively. The receipts during the year including the contribution of Government amounted to Rs. 14,438. The total expenditure was Rs. 70,691, the balance of Rs. 56,253 being met by the Corporation of Calcutta.

Third Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1926-27.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1924-25, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0·2 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.)

There are two crops—early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State and to a small extent also in other districts. The "late" crop is chiefly grown in Bankura and Midnapore.

Character of the season.—During the initial stages the condition of the early crop was not favourable owing to scanty rainfall. Although subsequent weather conditions favoured the growth, the crop was greatly affected by flood in parts of Midnapore and by excessive rain in the Tripura State. In the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the weather was favourable throughout. The prospects of the late crop are satisfactory.

Area sown.—The total area sown with early cotton is returned at 163,106 acres and that with late at 803 acres against 163,575 acres (revised) and 1,563 acres, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—The outturn of the early crop is estimated at 60,262 bales and the late crop at 80 bales, against 60,689 bales (revised) and 348 bales, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

(1) If the pilgrim ship fails to proceed from any port or place on the date advertised under sub-section (3) of section 209B as the date of sailing therefrom, the master, owner or agent shall become liable to pay as compensation to each pilgrim who has paid his passage money on or before such date the sum of one rupee for each completed day during which the sailing of the ship is delayed after that date :

Provided that such compensation shall not be payable in respect of any period during which the departure of the ship is impossible owing to any cause not arising from the act or default of the master, owner or agent, and the burden of proving such cause shall lie on such master, owner or agent.

(2) In the event of such failure, the master, owner or agent shall be bound forthwith to inform the Pilgrim Officer at the port or place at which the delay occurs of the number of tickets of each class which have been issued for the voyage on or before the advertised date of sailing.

Provided that, if an objection is made by the master, owner or agent that the sum specified in any such notice or any part of such sum is not payable by him, the sum paid or, as the case may be, the balance thereof remaining after payment to the pilgrims entitled thereto of compensation the right to which is not in dispute, shall be held in deposit until the objection has been decided :

Provided, further, that, if for any reason the compensation due to any pilgrim cannot be paid to him at the time of embarkation or at or before the time of his disembarkation at the port of his destination, the sum so remaining unpaid shall be made over to such authority administering any fund maintained for the assistance of pilgrims as the Local Government may, by general or special order, designate in this behalf.

(4) If the master, owner or agent objects that the sum specified in the notice issued under sub-section (3) or any part thereof is not payable by him, he may, at the time of payment of such sum, give to the Pilgrim Officer notice of his objection, together with a statement of the grounds thereof, and deposit such sum as may be prescribed to cover the probable costs of a reference under this sub-section ; and the Pilgrim Officer shall, on receipt of the objection and deposit, either cancel or modify the aforesaid notice in accordance with the objection and refund the sums held in deposit under sub-section (3) and this sub-section, or refer the objection for decision to a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class exercising jurisdiction in the port or place at which the ship is delayed ; the decision of the Magistrate on such reference shall be final, and there shall be refunded to the master, owner or agent any amount allowed to him by such decision, together with the sum deposited by him in respect of the costs of the reference or, if only a part of the amount in dispute is so allowed, the balance of the sum so deposited after deduction of an amount bearing the same proportion to the actual costs of the reference as the amount disallowed bears to the total amount in dispute.

(5) On the failure of any pilgrim ship to proceed from any port or place on the date advertised under sub-section (3) of section 209B as the date of sailing therefrom, the Pilgrim Officer at that port or place shall forthwith give notice of such failure to the officer authorised to grant port-clearance to ships thereat, and such officer shall refuse port-clearance to the pilgrim ship until the master, owner or agent produces to him a certificate of the Pilgrim Officer that all sums payable by way of compensation under this section up to the day on which the ship is to proceed have been paid."

Amendment of section 213, Act XXI of 1923.

3. In sub-section (1) of section 213 of the said Act, after clause (qq) the following clause shall be inserted, namely :—

"(qqq) the manner in which the proposed date of sailing shall be advertised under secton 209B; the appointment of Pilgrim Officers for the purposes of that section and section 209C; the manner in which payment shall be made under section 209C to pilgrims and to the Pilgrim Officer; the amount to be deposited to cover the probable costs of a reference under that section; and the procedure to be followed by masters, owners or agents and by Pilgrim Officers and Magistrates in proceedings under that section".

Repeals.

4. Sections 11, 12, 12A and 12B of the Protection of Pilgrims Act, 1887, and sections 11 and 12 of the Protection of Muhammadan Pilgrims Act, 1896, are hereby repealed. Bom Act II of 1887. Ben. Act I of 1896.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It has been represented to Government that the existing arrangements in regard to the sailing of pilgrim ships from ports in British India are unsatisfactory in one respect. Pilgrims have sometimes to wait for comparatively long periods at ports of embarkation in India owing to postponement of the date of sailing. The present Bill seeks to remedy this defect by providing that the master, owner or agent of a pilgrim vessel shall give timely notice, in a manner to be prescribed, of the proposed date of sailing of a pilgrim ship and pay a penalty of one rupee per diem in respect of each pilgrim who, having paid for a ticket to travel by a particular ship, is detained after the notified date of sailing owing to the failure of the said ship to sail, unless such failure is due to any cause not arising from the act or default of the master, owner or agent.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final forecast of the Bhadoi crops of Bengal, 1926-27.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1924-25, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6·2 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—The season opened with good rainfall in March facilitating preparatory tillage and early sowings. Prolonged drought in the next three months somewhat retarded later sowings and growth of germinated crops. With monsoon showers in July, the crops improved, but excessive rainfall in August and consequent flood caused damage in some West and East Bengal districts. Subsequently occasional showers with alternate sunshine in September greatly helped the recovery of standing crops in some West Bengal districts, but this does not apply to the flooded areas of Midnapore. A fair crop has been reaped for the Province, as a whole.

Acreage.—The total acreage sown with the different bhadoi crops this year is reported to be 5,762,400 acres as against 5,903,400 acres for last year. Of this, the area under autumn rice is estimated at 5,015,400 acres as against 5,139,200 acres last year.

Outturn.—According to the District Officers' estimates, the outturn of autumn rice for the Presidency works out at 79 per cent. of the normal and that of all the different bhadoi crops together at 78 per cent. as against 73 per cent. last year.

Accepting 79 per cent. as the outturn of autumn rice, the gross outturn of the crop for the Presidency, on the basis of a normal yield of 10½ maunds of clean grain per acre, is estimated at 1,564,700 tons this year as against 1,481,500 tons last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1926-27.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1924-25, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 18·7 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—As reported in the first forecast, good rain in March favoured preparatory tillage for deep water paddy and with a continuance of similar conditions sowings of this crop were completed in East and North Bengal in early April. In West Bengal, prolonged drought adversely affected paddy seed-beds in places, but subsequent rains facilitated the transplantation of seedlings until early August, when heavy rain with some flood occurred. The flood soon subsided in most places except in parts of Midnapore, where the crop was considerably damaged. In East and North Bengal, transplanting operations were hampered by lack of timely rain in June and early July, but conditions improved later on, resulting in good progress in East Bengal. In North Bengal, drought in late August further delayed transplantation, but favourable rain in early September, however, improved the situation. In West and North Bengal insufficient rain in October caused some damage to the final development of the crop, but, on the whole, a good crop is expected in East and West Bengal, and a satisfactory one in North Bengal.

Acreage.—According to the estimates returned by the District Officers, the total area under winter rice is 14,159,400 acres, as compared with 15,516,300 and 15,619,300 acres in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—From the summary of the district returns appended, it will appear that only Bankura reports more than a normal crop, i.e., 125 per cent. Four districts, viz., Khulna, Rangpur, Pabna and Bakarganj report a normal crop. Fourteen districts report a crop varying from 83 to 99 per cent. and the rest from 52 to 75 per cent. According to the above estimates, the provincial outturn works up to 88 per cent. as against 92 per cent. of normal estimates in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Accepting 88 per cent. as the provincial outturn the gross yield of the crop, on the basis of a normal yield of 12½ maunds of clean grain per acre, is estimated at 5,721,600 tons this year as against 6,554,800 and 6,598,400 tons, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

24-Parganas ...	840,600	749,800	620,000	83	92	Not commenced yet.	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rain. The weather has been favourable. The outturn is anticipated to fall a little below the normal owing to untimely rains and heavy rains later on.
Nadia ...	126,800	130,900	133,900	67	88	Ditto ...	The weather has been favourable but the outturn is anticipated to fall below the normal for late sowing and transplanting.
Murshidabad ...	351,400	278,200	240,000	82	67	Ditto ...	The weather has not been favourable. The outturn is anticipated to fall below the normal owing to occasional drought and floods which caused some damage.
Jessore ...	658,800	474,900	599,200	72	75	November. Normal.	The decrease in area is due to extensive cultivation of jute. The weather has been fairly favourable since the submission of the first forecast. The outturn is anticipated to fall below the normal owing to insufficient rain.
Khulna ...	905,800*	722,700	899,000	100	100	.....	.....
Burdwan ...	721,100	693,900	721,400	75	95	Not yet commenced	The increase in area is due to sufficient rains. The weather has been favourable but drought in Asansol has caused some damage.
Birbhum ...	604,700	537,000	547,900	67	92	Latter part of November, a little early.	The weather has been unfavourable. The outturn is anticipated to fall a little below the normal owing to want of rain in October causing a little damage.
Bankura ...	440,000	320,000	374,600	58	125	End of November. Normal.	The increase in area is due to sufficient rainfall. The weather and its effects on the cultivation and growth of the crop have been favourable. The outturn is anticipated to be above the normal as the rainfall was adequate and well distributed.
Midnapore ...	1,537,100	1,411,800	1,152,600	75	83	Ditto ...	The decrease in area is due to drought in June and subsequently heavy downpour in July. The weather has been favourable but in some parts want of rain was felt. More than one-third of the total area in the Contai subdivision has been damaged by the recent floods. The outturn is consequently anticipated to fall below the normal.
Hooghly ...	252,100	142,000	197,800	67	98	Not commenced yet.	The increase in area is due to favourable weather condition. Damage to the extent of about one anna has been caused by flood in Arambagh subdivision. The outturn is expected to fall a little below the normal owing to late transplantation.
Howrah ...	117,000	92,700	90,600	83	92	Ditto ...	Excessive rain in the Uluberia subdivision has caused some damage to the seedlings on low land but the weather changed for the better later on.
Rajshahi ...	622,700	926,400	588,400	82	75	December. Normal.	The large decrease in area is due to more extensive cultivation of jute this year and to unfavourable weather on account of insufficient rainfall at the time of sowing and transplantation. The increase in area as compared with the estimate in the first forecast is due to further transplantation. Some damage is reported from Nator.
Dinajpur ...	1,025,800	996,900	875,900	75	52	Not commenced yet.	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rainfall. The weather has not been at all favourable. Some damage has been caused in Thakurgaon subdivision and in Biral police-station by drought and insect-pests respectively. The outturn is anticipated to fall much below the normal owing to deficient rainfall.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

First forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1926-27.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1924-25, the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 3·6 per cent. and that under rape and mustard 12·4 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Explanatory.—Three forecasts are issued for the spring oilseed crops. The present one deals with the area sown and the general condition of the crops.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are grown chiefly in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions, the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is returned at 924·200 acres this year as against 897,000 and 900,100 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Character of the season.—The rainfall during September and the early part of October was sufficient for the preparatory tillage and subsequent dry weather facilitated sowings which were normal. The present outlook is fair on the whole except in parts of Dinajpur where the condition of the crops is reported to be poor owing to unfavourable weather.

R. S. FINLOW,

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for November 1926.

I. Character of the season.—The rainfall during the month was markedly in defect of the normal, the precipitation everywhere being below the average. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Harvesting of winter paddy continued under favourable conditions in North and East Bengal. In West Bengal reaping had just commenced. There was good soil-moisture for transplantation of tobacco seedlings and sowing of potatoes and other spring crops.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of sugarcane and other standing crops was favourable except in some West Bengal districts, where transplanted paddy suffered from lack of rain.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects of winter paddy were generally fair except in parts of West Bengal, Mymensingh and the Tripura State where damage by drought or insects was reported. The outturn of the bhadoi crops is estimated at 78 per cent. and that of the winter paddy is expected to be 88 per cent. of the normal.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Damage to winter paddy by insects was reported from parts of Mymensingh and to paddy and til crops by insects and rats from the Tripura State. Transplanted paddy also suffered from lack of rain in some tracts.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of live-stock was generally fair. Cattle-disease was reported from nine districts. Outbreak of rinderpest in an epidemic form was reported from Sunderbans area in the district of Bakarganj.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—No insufficiency of fodder was felt except in parts of Murshidabad.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month the price of common rice of the cheapest quality rose in 3 districts, fell in 8 and remained stationary in the rest of the Presidency. The prices ranged from 5 seers at Rangpur, Pabna, Malda and Faridpur to 7 seers at Chittagong.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Delhi, the 14th December 1926.

No. 459-26-G.—The following Interim Report of the Delegates of India to the Seventh Assembly of the League of Nations is published for general information :—

To the Right Honourable the EARL OF BIRKENHEAD, His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

MY LORD,

We beg to submit our Interim Report on the Seventh Ordinary Session of the Assembly of the League of Nations held at Geneva from the 6th to 25th September, at which we had the honour to represent India. Following the precedent established by our predecessors at the Sixth Assembly, we have included in our Interim Report a brief account of the more important questions discussed at this year's Assembly, particularly those of special interest for India, and we propose to submit to Your Lordship a Final Report, with a fuller description of the work of the session, including the text of the Resolutions adopted by the Assembly and of certain reports and speeches.

The Indian Delegation and the British and Dominion Delegations.

2. The Indian Delegation this year was numerically stronger than any previously sent to the Assembly. No delegate except Sir Edward Chamier had previously attended a session of the Assembly. On the arrival from India of Khan Bahadur Shaikh Abdul Qadir and Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, towards the end of August, a meeting of the delegation was held in London for a preliminary discussion of the Agenda and other documents distributed by the League, and of the method of dividing the work to be done at the Assembly between the members of the delegation. His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala, who was unable to be present at this meeting, had already agreed to undertake responsibility for certain subjects. When the delegation met at Geneva on the 5th September, a further meeting was held at which the arrangements provisionally made in London were confirmed, opportunity having been taken by all members of the delegation in the interval to study in detail the subjects assigned to them, with the instructions and memoranda prepared by the Government of India and the India Office for their guidance. On the same day we met our colleagues representing Great Britain and the Dominions at the Assembly at an informal meeting convened by Sir Austen Chamberlain

Subsequently, other meetings were arranged between individual members of the British Empire Delegations, as occasion required, for the exchange of views on subjects under discussion with which they were specially concerned. The experience and knowledge of procedure derived by the British Delegation from its association with the work of the Council of the League were at all times freely placed at the disposal of the Indian and Dominion Delegations. By means of these informal meetings we were able to learn in advance the views likely to be expressed by our British and Dominion colleagues on questions under discussion. It was thus possible, as a general rule, to establish a working agreement on matters affecting inter-Imperial relations, although no attempt was made to fetter the independent action of each delegation. A list of the members of each delegation will be found in our Final Report. The British Delegation, like our own, was composed of three representatives, viz., Sir Austen Chamberlain, Viscount Cecil and Sir Cecil Hurst, and three substitute representatives, the Earl of Onslow, the Right Hon'ble E. Hilton-Young and Dame Edith Lyttelton, but was also accompanied by a large number of experts. The Delegation of Australia was headed by Mr. Latham, Attorney-General of the Commonwealth; that of Canada by Senator Sir George Foster; that of New Zealand by Sir Francis Bell, Minister without portfolio and a former Prime Minister; that of South Africa by Mr. Smit, High Commissioner in London; and that of the Irish Free State by Mr. Desmond FitzGerald, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Organisation of the League of Nations, and Procedure of the Assembly.

3. We have reproduced in the Appendix to this Report the introductory paragraphs to the Interim Report of the Indian Delegation to the Sixth Assembly, which gave a brief account of the organisation of the League of Nations and of the procedure of the Assembly. It is important to realise that decisions of the Council and Assembly to be effective have to be unanimous. The decisions of the Assembly are therefore often the result of a compromise arrived at in private negotiations. Our Report is intended only to give an account of the public proceedings in which we participated. It would be impossible to describe in a short compass the various stages of negotiations carried on outside the Assembly and its Committees, in order to secure unanimous approval of the resolutions proposed for adoption.

Opening of the Seventh Session.

4. Proceedings at the Assembly were opened on the 6th September by M. Benes (Foreign Minister of Czecho-Slovakia), acting as President of the Council of the League. The credentials of the delegates were verified by a Committee on which His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala served. Forty-eight States were represented out of a total number of 55 States, Spain, Brazil and certain other South American States being absentees. In addition to Sir Austen Chamberlain and Mr. Desmond FitzGerald, the Foreign Ministers of Belgium, Bulgaria, Denmark, Esthonia, Finland, France, Hungary, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Serbia, Sweden, Switzerland, Czecho-Slovakia and Uruguay were present. Besides Dame Edith Lyttelton, women representatives were sent by Australia, Denmark, the Netherlands, Norway, Roumania and Sweden. Most of the South American States, as well as Japan and other more distant countries, were represented by their diplomats accredited to various States in Europe.

5. M. Nintchitch, Foreign Minister of the Serb-Croat-Slovene Kingdom, was elected President of the Assembly by 42 votes. Like his predecessor at the Sixth Assembly, Senator Dandurand (Canada), M. Nintchitch set himself to conclude the business of the session in a period of three weeks. This object was achieved despite vigorous protests from Dr. Nansen and M. Hambro (delegates of Norway), supported by Viscount Cecil. The applause which greeted the remarks of these delegates indicated that they expressed the general opinion in holding that the time allowed for discussion of many difficult questions was insufficient, and that the methods adopted for expediting the procedure involved in some cases serious departures from the rules of business.

6. After the election of the President, six Vice-Presidents and a Committee to examine supplementary items of the Agenda were chosen. The items of the Agenda already circulated were adopted and assigned for discussion to six Committees, in which each delegation was invited to be represented. The six Chairmen elected by these Committees formed, with the President, the six Vice-Presidents and the Chairman of the Agenda Committee, the General Committee of the Assembly, by which the order of proceedings was regulated.

7. Most of the questions which appeared on the provisional Agenda, or were placed on the Agenda during the Assembly, were referred, in the first instance, for examination and report by the Committee to which their subject-matter related. For convenience of record, we have dealt with the action taken on these items, whether in the Committee itself or in the Assembly, and the part played by individual members of the Indian Delegation in the discussions, under the separate sections assigned to the work of each of the Committees in the Report. Detailed discussion of the various items was only possible in Committee, the report stage in the Assembly being curtailed, to save time, in most cases to the formal presentation of the reports and draft resolutions adopted by each Committee.

Admission of Germany to the League, and Composition of the Council.

8. These two questions outweighed in importance any others before the Seventh Assembly. In order that the connection between them and the proposals adopted by the Assembly in regard to the latter may be clearly understood, it is necessary to review briefly the history of each.

Application of Germany for Admission to the League.

9. The Security and Arbitration Agreements concluded in December 1925 between the Powers represented at the Locarno Conference were really dependent on the admission of Germany to the League of Nations. Germany had stipulated, and the other Powers had agreed, that if admitted to the League of Nations she should also become simultaneously a permanent member of the Council.

Germany's application for admission to the League was received in February 1926, and an Extraordinary Session of the Assembly was convened in March to consider the application. Just before the Assembly met it became known that Poland, Spain, Brazil and China also demanded permanent seats on the Council simultaneously with Germany's election. When the Assembly met it appointed a Committee, which unanimously recommended Germany's admission to the League. The Assembly, however, was unable to adopt this recommendation because the Council failed to reach a unanimous decision (as required by Article 5 of the Covenant) to make Germany an additional permanent Member subject to the approval of the majority of the Assembly. Eventually it was announced in the Assembly by the Representative of Brazil that he had been instructed by his Government to withhold his assent in the Council to the proposal to make Germany a permanent member of that Body, as his colleagues were unable to agree to recommend the simultaneous election of Brazil. The Assembly thereupon dissolved, and the Council immediately nominated a Committee, including representatives of the States Members of the Council, and in addition of the Argentine, China, Germany, Poland and Switzerland, to "make a thorough study of the problems connected with the composition of the Council and the number and election of its Members". Meantime the application of Germany for admission to the League was to stand over till the meeting of the Seventh Assembly.

Composition of the Council.

10. The composition of the Council is determined by Article 4 of the Covenant, the relevant portion of which is as follows:—"The Council shall consist of the Representatives of the principal Allied and Associated Powers" (i.e., the United States of America, the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan, as specified in the preamble to the Treaty of Versailles), "together with Representatives of four other Members of the Assembly. These four Members of the League shall be selected by the Assembly in its discretion. Until the appointment of the Representatives of the four Members of the League first selected by the Assembly Representatives of Belgium, Brazil, Spain and Greece shall be Members of the Council.

"With the approval of the majority of the Assembly the Council may name additional Members of the Council whose Representatives shall always be Members of the Council. The Council, with like approval, may increase the number of Members of the League to be selected by the Assembly for representation on the Council."

11. In 1920 the First Assembly, at the first election of non-permanent Members, chose China in place of Greece, but confirmed the other original appointments. In 1922, the Third Assembly approved, on the proposal of the Council, the creation of two additional non-permanent seats, in order to make the non-permanent portion of the Council more fully representative. Sweden and Uruguay were elected to these seats. In the election of 1923 China was replaced by Czecho-Slovakia. In other respects the non-permanent Members of the Council, viz., Brazil, Spain, Uruguay, Belgium, Sweden, and Czecho-Slovakia, remained unchanged in the succeeding elections held in 1924 and 1925.

The Principle of Rotation.

12. The First Assembly (1920) discussed at some length the best method of securing fair representation of all States among the non-permanent Members of the Council. In particular it recommended that three seats should be accorded to Europe and America, and one seat to Asia and other parts of the world. The Second Assembly (1921) adopted an amendment of Article 4 of the Covenant, to insert, after the second paragraph (i.e., at the end of the extract above-quoted) the following paragraph:—"The Assembly shall fix, by a two-thirds majority, the rules dealing with the election of the non permanent Members of the Council, and particularly such regulations as relate to their term of office and the conditions of their re-eligibility." This Assembly also resolved that the non-permanent Members of the Council should in future be elected according to a system of rotation for a fixed period. Rules for this purpose were drafted by the Third and adopted by the Fourth Assembly. These Assemblies also recommended, and the Fifth and Sixth Assemblies have reiterated, that "it is desirable that the Assembly, in electing the six non-permanent Members of the Council, should make its choice with due consideration for the main geographical divisions of the world, the great ethical groups, the different religious traditions, the various types of civilisation, and the chief sources of wealth." The reiteration of this resolution at successive Assemblies was specially urged by the Chinese Delegation, China having forfeited in the election of 1923 the non-permanent seat previously held by her.

13. The amendment of Article 4, which would permit of the application of the Rules of Procedure adopted by the Fourth Assembly, required to be ratified by a majority of the Members of the Assembly and by all States Members of the Council before it could come into force. At the time of Germany's application for admission to the League it had not been ratified by Spain as a Member of the Council.

Claims to Additional Permanent Seats on the Council.

14. It will be seen that when Germany's application for admission to the League and Council was received, the question of the proper composition of the Council had already aroused considerable discussion in the Assembly. However, this discussion had been inconclusive pending ratification of the amendment of Article 4 of the Covenant. The Representatives of Spain and Brazil had also in 1921 put forward claims in the Council to permanent seats, but no action had been taken by the Council to further their desires. The privilege claimed for Spain and Brazil was, in fact, that of equal political status with the principal Allied and Associated Powers. By virtue, however, of re-election since 1920 to non-permanent seats on the Council, these States had so far exercised the same privileges as the existing permanent Members of the Council. Moreover, so long as Spain withheld her ratification of the amendment to Article 4, the application of the principle of rotation, which would necessarily have deprived States holding non-permanent seats of those rights, was prevented.

15. Germany's request for an additional permanent seat on the Council precipitated the question of meeting the political claims of Spain and Brazil, and thus provoked the crisis which occurred in March 1926. The application of China for a permanent seat, which was ultimately not pressed, was of a similar character. Poland, on the other hand, preferred her claim for a permanent seat on the Council on different grounds. The Polish Government, supported by Poland's allies, considered it necessary to obtain Poland's election to a permanent seat simultaneously with that of her neighbour, Germany, in order to complete the guarantee of territorial security concluded on her behalf at Locarno. It thus was possible that a solution acceptable to Poland would not necessarily satisfy Spain, Brazil and China.

Proposals of the Committee on the Composition of the Council.

16. The task set the Committee on the Composition of the Council was to devise a scheme satisfying the desire, expressed in successive Resolutions of the Assembly from 1920 onwards, to make the Council more fully representative of States Members of the League, and at the same time to solve the immediate crisis in such a way as to secure Germany's unopposed election to permanent membership of the Council simultaneously with her admission to the League. In framing regulations to govern the election of non-permanent Members, the Committee was at once confronted with the difficulty that the amendment to Article 4, which would enable those regulations to be enforced, had not yet been ratified by Spain. The Committee appears to have proceeded on the assumption that this, or a similar amendment, would ultimately be ratified, and in fact Spain notified her ratification of the amendment just before the opening of the Seventh Assembly. At its first meeting in May the Committee decided to avoid making recommendations which would involve further amendment of the Covenant. It produced an Interim Report dealing exclusively with the number of and method of election to non-permanent seats. Its proposals were, briefly, to increase the number of these seats from six to nine, each seat to be held for three years from the date of election, after which date the vacating Member would be ineligible for re-election for a period of three years unless the Assembly should decide otherwise by a two-thirds majority. Similarly, by a two-thirds majority, the Assembly might proceed to simultaneous re-election of all the non-permanent Members. As a transitional measure in 1926 the Committee proposed that nine Members should be elected to non-permanent seats as early as possible after the opening of the Seventh Assembly, three for three years, three for two, and three for one year. It was claimed on behalf of these proposals that the increase of the number of seats would enable more adequate expression to be given to the principle of geographical distribution, and it was suggested that three seats should be accorded to Members States of Latin America, and that adequate representation should also be given to Asia. The question of the increase or otherwise of permanent seats were left over for consideration at a later meeting.

17. The Committee met again in August and prepared a new draft of the regulations. The essential difference in the new draft was to provide specifically that, of the nine States Members elected in 1926, a maximum of three might immediately be declared "re-eligible" for election by a two-thirds majority of the Assembly.

18. On the 12th June the Brazilian Government had notified their decision that Brazil would withdraw from the League, and had therefore ceased to be represented on the Committee. The Committee rejected the claim of Spain to an additional permanent seat, and decided not to submit to the Council proposals involving the creation of any fresh permanent seats, save the one allotted to Germany. This decision was accepted by the Polish and Chinese Representatives. The Committee held that the provision now made for re-eligibility would "enable the Assembly to give satisfaction to the special claims of certain countries to representation for an extended period on the Council.

Action by the Council.

19. The Council adopted, on the 4th September, a Resolution approving the Report of the Committee, and decided, in accordance with Article 4 of the Covenant, to recommend to the Assembly—

(a) the appointment of Germany as a permanent Member of the Council on her entry to the League;
(b) the increase in the number of non-permanent seats from six to nine.

The proposals of the Committee as regards the method of election and tenure of the non-permanent seats were also recommended for favourable consideration by the Assembly.

20. On the 8th September the Spanish Government notified Spain's decision to withdraw from the League. The withdrawal of Spain and Brazil showed that the scheme proposed by the Committee had failed to satisfy the claims of those countries to be treated equally with Germany as entitled to the privileged status of Great Powers. On the other hand, with the provision for re-eligibility the claims of Poland and her supporters were sufficiently met, as these provisions gave Poland a chance of securing a quasi-permanent tenure of a non-permanent seat on the Council.

Action by the Seventh Assembly.

21. On the 8th September, i.e., as soon as the formal business was concluded, the General Committee of the Assembly proposed that the Assembly should consider, without reference to a Committee,—

(1) the Report of the First Committee of the Extraordinary Assembly recommending Germany's admission to the League of Nations:
(2) the Resolution of the Council on 4th September, referred to above, deciding—

(a) the nomination of Germany as a permanent Member of the Council;
(b) the increase to nine of the number of non-permanent seats on the Council.

It was also proposed by the General Committee that the draft scheme for the method of election and tenure of the non-permanent seats should be referred for consideration by the First Committee of the Assembly (Legal and Constitutional questions), with the request that their report on the subject might be presented at the earliest possible date.

22. At the first meeting of the First Committee, M. Motta (Switzerland), who had been designated by the General Committee to present its proposals to the Assembly, explained briefly, on election as Chairman of the Committee, the reasons for the General Committee's proposals. In the ordinary course, the admission of Germany to the League and the attribution to her of a permanent seat on the Council, as well as the proposed increase from six to nine of the number of non-permanent Members, would have been referred for full consideration in Committee before being brought before the Assembly. However, the request of Germany for admission to the League had been thoroughly examined and favourably reported on by the Special Assembly in March, while it had only been possible to obtain unanimity in the Council for the attribution of a permanent seat to Germany on condition that it was connected with the increase of the number of non-permanent seats from six to nine.

23. In the Assembly, M. Motta, while admitting that the desirability of attributing permanent seats on the Council to any Power was an open question, argued that so long as such permanent seats existed there was no question as to the right of Germany, on admission to the League, to one of them. To the increase of non-permanent seats he admitted two objections :—

(a) That the powers of the Council, vis-a-vis the Assembly, might be held to be increased thereby;
(b) That its activity as an executive body might be impeded.

On the other hand, he claimed that the proposal would fulfil the wishes of the Assembly to give more adequate representation to Latin America and Asia. It was, moreover, necessary to combine with the principle of rotation the political claims of certain States for a longer tenure of their seats on the Council. The proposals before the Assembly were meant to be a solution of the serious crisis in which the League had been involved. Primum vivere deinde philosophari.

24. The arguments of M. Motta were not seriously challenged. M. Loudon (Netherlands) maintained that there was no connection between a permanent seat for Germany and the increase of the non-permanent seats. The connection claimed by the Council was apparently intended to force the hands of the Assembly, but he admitted that the Assembly must accept the decision in the form in which it was presented. He wished it to be remembered that the Netherlands had objected to the increase in the number of non-permanent Members decided in 1922, and still objected to the further increase. Dr. Nansen (Norway) argued that it was unconstitutional for the Council to decide to give Germany a permanent seat before her admission to the League had been voted. He also objected to a decision being taken on the connection between the increase in the number of non-permanent seats and the attribution of a permanent seat to Germany while 15 only out of 55 States had had an opportunity of discussing the question. Similar arguments were used by the Representative of Denmark. The Assembly, however, decided unanimously to take into consideration the admission of Germany and the joint proposals of a permanent seat for Germany and the increase of the non-permanent seats from six to nine in the form proposed by the General Committee, and these proposals were voted unanimously. The decision to admit Germany to the League was enthusiastically received.

Admission of Germany.

25. A separate meeting of the Assembly was held, on the 10th September, to welcome the German delegates. After a short speech of welcome by the President, Herr Stresemann (Foreign Minister of Germany) made an impressive speech on Germany's attitude towards the League. After first calling attention to the economic necessities of the world, he claimed that still more important was the moral reconstruction which the League was designed to carry out. It was necessary to develop in each nation, without any surrender of its individuality, moral and intellectual ideals which might overstep the national boundaries and serve the whole of mankind. The political outcome of these ideals was a moral obligation on the part of all countries to devote their efforts to peaceful co-operation. For the moment he held that the greatest tasks before the League were the development of an international legal order through the Permanent Court of International Justice, and the prosecution of general disarmament. Germany had also to bear in mind that the League was the creation of the Treaty of Versailles, and hoped that by her co-operation in the League the settlement of questions arising out of this Treaty would be rendered easier. M. Briand (Foreign Minister of France) replied to M. Stresemann in an eloquent impromptu speech. Germany's admission to the League meant the end of the historic methods of adjusting differences between those countries. Instead of the methods of war she would now use the methods of conciliation, arbitration and peace. But he pointed out that delegates might come to Geneva in two different spirits, viz., the objective spirit and the fighting spirit. If delegates who came to win prestige were egged on by the Press and public of their countries in the latter spirit, they would not achieve the object for which the League existed. Every country was obliged to make some sacrifice in order to secure agreement.

The welcome accorded by the Assembly to the German Delegation was genuine and spontaneous. It was generally felt that if nothing else were achieved at this session, at least it marked the end of a period of strain and anxiety and brought the hope of making the League world-wide appreciably nearer realisation.

Adoption of the Rules for Election of Non-permanent Members.

26. The first Committee, charged with the examination of the proposals of the Committee on the Composition of the Council for regulating the election and tenure of non-permanent Members, appointed a Sub-Committee after a short discussion to draw up a text of regulations for embodiment in the Rules of Procedure of the Assembly. These draft regulations were afterwards carefully reviewed by the First Committee and finally adopted with minor amendments, which it would be tedious to describe here. On the 15th September the Assembly met to consider the report of the First Committee. The rapporteur, M. Motta, emphasised that the work of the First Committee had been done carefully and at leisure, in circumstances which guaranteed the full liberty and dignity of the Assembly, and had resulted in a considerable improvement of the original scheme, though its main lines had been substantially preserved. The rules provided for a maximum of three States being declared re-eligible, but at the same time for complete renewal of the non-permanent portion of the Council at any election if the Assembly decided by a majority of two-thirds to exercise this right. For the election of 1926, which would cover not one-third but the whole of the non-permanent Members of the Council, it was necessary to nominate three States for a period of three years, three for a period of two years, and three for a period of one year. The declaration in regard to re-eligibility would this year follow the election, instead of, as in normal circumstances, preceding it. It would be necessary for a State which desired to be declared re-eligible to claim that privilege itself. Finally, M. Motta again reminded the Assembly that the scheme was intended to give a larger representation to Latin America and a more adequate representation of the Asiatic Continent. The delegates of Persia and of China had insisted at the First Committee that Asia and Africa should this year receive two non-permanent seats. While presenting this request with some reserve, he urged that neither in this year nor in future years was it possible to forget the immense population of the Asiatic Continent.

27. Sir George Foster (Canada), while commending the proposals of the First Committee, deprecated the Assembly binding itself at any particular moment to adopt a rigid geographical system of distribution. He reminded the Assembly that, though many communal and racial associations had been recognised in the League during the past six years, little had so far been heard of the Members of the League of Nations which comprised the Overseas Dominions and Possessions of the British Empire. These States Members were all on a basis of absolute equality, but had hitherto made no claim for precedence of any kind. This year he understood that the Irish Free State had declared itself a candidate for a non-permanent seat. Canada did not lay claim to a seat, but considered it pertinent to point out that she had equal rights to representation on the Council with the other Members of the League.

28. Mr. Desmond FitzGerald (Irish Free State) declared that he could not agree in principle to the proposals before the Assembly. To begin with, a Council of 14 was too large. Secondly, the provision debarring States in normal course from re-election after completion of their term of office, though possibly fair in practice, actually deprived the Assembly from exercising its free choice in electing representatives. Again, he did not agree with any principle of geographical distribution or election by groups, since the establishment of any kind of prescriptive right to a seat tended to limit the free choice of the Assembly. The power of election of representatives on the Council was the chief right enjoyed by the Assembly, which it was undesirable to curtail.

29. M. de Brouckère (Belgium) endeavoured to defend the proposals on the ground that they did in fact tend to secure a more representative Council than hitherto. He considered that the Assembly's liberty of choice so long as it was unorganised would be dangerous, and that the past absence of organisation had been the main cause of the Assembly's failure to execute its will. Finally, he claimed that re-eligibility was not necessarily contrary to democratic interests, for the mandate exercised by a State which had been declared re-eligible was not to be exercised in the interests of the mandatory alone, but in that of the whole League.

30. M. Chao-Hsin Chu (China) pressed China's claim to one of the non-permanent seats to be held for three years. The Assembly then adopted the articles regulating the election of the nine non-permanent Members, the text of which will be reproduced in our Final Report.

Election of Non-permanent Members of the Council.

31. The election under the new rules of the nine non-permanent Members was held on 16th September. Under the rules it was necessary that each State should obtain an absolute majority. The following eight States obtained an absolute majority and were declared elected on the first ballot:—Columbia, Poland, Chile, Salvador, Belgium, Roumania, the Netherlands, China. A supplementary ballot was taken for the election of the ninth non-permanent Member, as a result of which Czecho-Slovakia was elected. Persia had received the next largest number of votes, namely, 20, and the Irish Free State 10 in the first ballot. In the supplementary ballot, however, the next largest number of votes was cast for Finland.

At this stage in the proceedings a declaration was made by the Delegation of Uruguay to the effect that it was unable to recognise the adoption by the States of Latin America present in Geneva of a group of candidates for the election of non-permanent Members which could not be considered to be fully representative of Latin America as a whole, and that Uruguay had not, in consequence, maintained its candidature.

At a second ballot, the following States were nominated to serve for a period of three years:—Poland, Chile, Roumania. At the third ballot the following States were nominated to serve for two years:—Columbia, the Netherlands, China. The remaining States, Belgium, Salvador, Czecho-Slovakia, will serve for one year only.

32. A request having been received from Poland that she should be declared re-eligible, a vote on this application was taken by roll call, as a result of which 36 out of 48 States voted in favour of declaring Poland re-eligible, the necessary majority being two-thirds.

General Observations.

33. It would be inappropriate for the Indian Delegation to comment on the results of these elections further than to express the hope that the immediate crisis produced by Germany's application for a permanent seat on the Council has been satisfactorily overcome thereby. The past history of the question of the composition of the Council seems to indicate that further changes may occur before it can be regarded as finally settled. In our opinion it would have been desirable had Persia, rather than China, on this occasion secured election as a non-permanent Member, seeing that there is no direct representation of the Muhammadan world in the Council as at present composed, and that China is heavily in arrears in payment of her contribution to the League. In the course of the general debate on the work of the Council several speakers attributed the difficulties which had occurred to the undemocratic system permitting certain Great Powers to enjoy permanent seats on the Council, and M. Motta himself admitted that an occasion might occur hereafter to reconsider this system. M. Hambro (Norway) proposed, and the Assembly ultimately on the recommendation of the First Committee, to which the proposal was referred, agreed, that the systems of the single transferable vote and of proportional representation should be studied in regard to future elections of non-permanent Members. The adoption of these systems had been suggested by Lord Cecil in the course of the discussions of the Committee on the Composition of the Council. It is claimed that by their means a more equitable distribution of seats between States Members of the Assembly would be secured. As no definite proposals were placed before the Assembly, it is impossible to forecast how these systems would operate in the elections, but the results of the study which the Secretariat is being requested to make will be available before the next Assembly.

34. The above account is a long one and somewhat out of proportion to the rest of our Interim Report. But we felt that it was impossible to give a clear explanation in a shorter compass of the important decisions, coincident with the admission of Germany, which the Assembly approved. Their effect on the future life of the League is bound to be very great.

General Debate on the Work of the League during the past year.

35. The general debate on the work of the League ordinarily opens immediately after the formal business of the Assembly at the beginning of the session is concluded. This year, owing to the exigencies of the procedure connected with the admission of Germany and the composition of the Council, the course of the debate, which began on the 8th and ended on the 14th September, was frequently interrupted and no one subject took chief place in it. M. Benes in his speech at the opening of the Assembly reviewed briefly the chief achievements of the League during the past year. He mentioned the decision of Council in the Mosul frontier dispute between Great Britain and Turkey, and the successful intervention of the Council in the Greco-Bulgarian frontier dispute. He referred to the work of the League Preparatory Commissions for the Disarmament and Economic Conferences, on which the subsequent decisions of the Assembly will be mentioned later in this Report. Speaking of the agreements concluded at Locarno, he showed that they had been conceived in the spirit animating the decisions of the League of Nations at the Fifth and Sixth Assemblies, and that they embodied the principles of conciliation and arbitration and recognised the authority of the International Court of Justice and Council of the League.

In one matter he pointed out that the record of the League in the past year had not been satisfactory. Little progress had been made in the ratification of a number of technical Conventions concluded at Geneva on economic, transit, health, opium and other questions.

36. The Maharaja of Kapurthala intervened early in the debate in a speech which will be reproduced in our Final Report. He reminded the Assembly of the important part played by the Indian Ruling Princes in the administration of India, two-fifths of which was ruled independently by them under the suzerainty and protection of the King-Emperor, and expressed gratification at being included among the representatives of India at the Assembly where, as a Ruling Prince, he could speak as a practical administrator. India was awakening to a spirit of nationalism, and, with its own traditions and ideals and the friendly guidance and assistance of the British Government, he sincerely hoped it would one day, not in the far distant future, become a united nation and self-governing country like the British Dominions. Although geographically far removed from the headquarters of the League's activities, India had had some share in the work of reconstruction undertaken by it. Among prominent Indians associated in the work of League Commissions were Sir Jagadis Bose, of the Committee for Intellectual Co-operation; Sir Muhammad Rafique, of the Committee for the Codification of International Law; and Sir Atul Chatterjee, of the Preparatory Committee for the Economic Conference. In the international work in labour and social questions India had a more direct interest, and had been represented on the Governing Body of the Labour Organization since 1923, as well as on many special conferences. He showed by statistics that India's record in regard to the ratification of Conventions concluded at these conferences is most creditable. Many legislative and administrative measures had been enacted in India in execution of the agreements signed on her behalf, including important amendments of the Indian Penal Code to protect the community more effectively against sexual crime. He reminded the Assembly that, among other administrative changes, in pursuit of the progressive restriction of the cultivation, internal consumption and export of opium, India had decided to reduce its exports of opium by a fixed annual proportion during the next 10 years, with a view to their ultimate extinction within the period save for medical and scientific purposes. He spoke of India's co-operation in the work of the Epidemiological Bureau at Singapore and research into the causes of the diseases specially menacing the East, and mentioned recent progress in social legislation and in education in Indian States, including that of Kapurthala. He reminded the Assembly that India is a country with its own ancient civilization and traditions, deeply religious, and in many respects conservative, to which many of the theories and principles which have emerged from the rapid industrial, social and political developments during the last 100 years in Europe are entirely foreign. Nevertheless, India had accepted and carried out the greater part of the reforms in domestic and industrial life recommended from Geneva. If the influence of the League was to be universal, as intended by the authors of the Covenant, the policies adopted at Geneva must be truly international, taking account of the differences existing in mankind due to climate and traditions, and must be conceived in a form applicable, with allowances for those differences and with equally beneficial results, in all parts of the world. He asked the Assembly to consider what practical demonstration could be made to the peoples of India that their interests were appreciated and considered at Geneva as of equal importance to those of the West. He suggested one direction in which the sympathy of the West would be highly valued by all eastern peoples, namely, the prevention of epidemic disease. The Indian Delegation would refer in greater detail in the Committee discussions to the methods in which they considered that the work could be promoted.

37. The Maharaja's speech was sympathetically received. It will be seen from our record of the discussion in the Second Committee (Technical Organisations) that his appeal was followed up by Sir Ramaswami Ayyar in asking financial support for the Singapore Bureau, and that the Assembly approved the principle of making the work of this Bureau dependent on the budget of the League.

38. Viscount Cecil took up the point raised by M. Benes as regards the failure of many Member States to ratify Conventions concluded, and in many cases signed by their representatives, at Geneva. He pointed out that the commercial world was anxiously awaiting the early ratification and bringing into force of Conventions concluded on transit and communications trade in opium, and arbitration in commercial disputes. Eight commercial Conventions signed on behalf of 55 States at Geneva had been ratified only by 23. The Opium Convention, signed by 34 States, had been ratified only by six States, all of the British Empire. Lord Cecil originally proposed that the Council should appoint a Committee to consider how ratification of Conventions could be expedited. The matter was further discussed in the Sixth Committee (Political Questions), and on the recommendation of a Sub-Committee representing the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan, a resolution was adopted and approved by the Assembly calling the attention of the Government and States Members of the League to the necessity for taking all measures in their power to facilitate and expedite the ratification in all cases of Conventions and agreements signed in their name. The Council of the League was invited to call for a report every six months on the progress of ratification and to consider methods for securing the more rapid bringing into force of these agreements and Conventions. It is sincerely to be hoped that the attention paid by the Assembly to this matter will be effective in stimulating other Governments to follow the good example which has been set by Great Britain and India.

39. Another important question raised in Lord Cecil's speech was that of the proper sphere of activity of the League. He mentioned various subjects under consideration, such as disarmament, slavery, health in which the League was undoubtedly competent under the terms of the Covenant, but instanced certain proposals of the League Committee on Child Welfare which he did not consider of international significance. He pointed out the dangers of spreading too widely the activities of the League, in that it might thus be diverted from its task of promoting peace, and also tend to infringe national sovereignty. We mention in our record of the discussions in the First Committee (Legal and Constitutional questions) the result of Lord Cecil's criticisms.

40. Mr. Latham (Australia) expressed the apprehensions felt in his country as to the scope and composition of the proposed Economic Conference. He considered that a Conference of Experts not appointed as the delegates of Governments might introduce discussion on matters interfering with the domestic sovereignty of the States Members. He instanced the subjects of tariffs, bounties, preference and migration, consideration of all of which appeared to be contemplated at the conference. The continuation of the discussion on this question will be found in the record of the work of the Second Committee (Technical Organisations) in our Report.

41. Count Moltke (Denmark), speaking early in the debate, had drawn attention to the recently concluded Danish-Dutch Arbitration Treaty, which provided for compulsory arbitration in all cases of disputes, and had mentioned the negotiations in progress between his country and Poland, Scandinavia, France and Germany for the conclusion of agreements involving compulsory arbitration on points of dispute. Mr. Latham (Australia), apparently with this declaration in mind, made some criticisms of the arbitration procedure. He said that the task of an arbitrator was to ascertain facts and enforce rights derived from an authority outside the procedure of arbitration. It was far more important to elaborate and strengthen the authority of international law. Where an arbitrator, instead of applying principles of law derived from another source than himself, was left to act according to his own view of the case, he tended to make the law himself. It had been found in Australia that a body set up to determine industrial disputes without any rules as to the law according to which they were to be determined was likely to create disputes rather than to settle them.

42. At the end of the debate the President read out a declaration received from the Delegations of England, Poland and Sweden, urging the importance of the study of alcoholism by the League in connection with the protection of women and children, the administration of mandated territories and prevention of smuggling. Resolutions passed by various international congresses were quoted in the declaration, and the Council was invited to study the problem. On the proposal of the Agenda Committee of the Assembly it was decided to adjourn this subject for consideration at the next session of the Assembly.

43. The above appeared to the delegation to be the most important of the subjects discussed in the general debate. We now turn to the discussion of those subjects which were remitted by the Assembly for preliminary consideration in the Six Committees.

45. For the method of procedure in Committees we would refer to the description in the Appendix to this Report. In the brief account of the work of the Committees which follows we have not attempted to include all the subjects discussed. We have also grouped together under each heading the discussion in Committee and the decision ultimately reached in the Assembly. Our Final Report will contain the text of all the resolutions passed by the Assembly and of most of the reports of the Committees by which they were proposed, and also the text of the more important speeches delivered by members of the Indian Delegation on these subjects.

COMMITTEES I and III.—Legal and Constitutional Questions and Reduction of Armaments.

ELECTION OF NON-PERMANENT MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL.

47. We have already dealt with this question and with the proposal to introduce a system of proportional representation. Further remarks on these subjects must be reserved for our general Report.

LIMITS OF THE SPHERE OF ACTION OF THE LEAGUE.

47. The Assembly referred to the First Committee a proposal put forward by Lord Cecil (British Empire) that the Council should be requested to appoint a Committee to consider and report what questions are and what are not within the sphere of action of the League within the meaning of the Preamble to and Articles 3 and 4 of the Covenant, especially with reference to the questions which are now being dealt with by the organs of the League or are proposed to be so dealt with. Lord Cecil explained in the Assembly that the British Government had no desire to restrict or diminish the legitimate activities of the League, but it was felt in some quarters that there was a tendency, which should be checked, to encourage the League to take up subjects which were foreign to the purpose for which the League was founded, namely, to secure international co-operation making for the peace of the world. Lord Cecil's proposal met with determined opposition in the Committee. The British Delegation announced that they would be content with a statement by the Committee of the principles governing the competence and activities of the League, and they circulated to the members of the Committee a memorandum embodying their views on the subject. After a lengthy discussion, the Committee instructed a drafting Sub-Committee to prepare a resolution recommending that any organ of the League to which a proposal was submitted should satisfy itself that the question was within the sphere of action of the League. M. Barthelemy (France), who was appointed rapporteur to the Assembly, delivered a speech, in which he gave expression rather to the views of the French Delegation than to those of the First Committee. As it appeared that considerable differences of opinion still existed as to the action, if any, which should be taken, the question was, at the instance of M. Benes (Czecho-Slovakia) postponed for the consideration of the next Assembly.

ARBITRATION, SECURITY, AND THE PACIFIC SETTLEMENT OF INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES.

48. These subjects were referred to the Third Committee and in part also to the First Committee. M. Markovitch (Kingdom of the Serbs and Slovenes) took the leading part in the discussion. He was not satisfied with the suggestion in the report of the Council that certain recent international agreements for arbitration and security should be registered. He desired to draw from them general principles which might assist the different States to a solution of the problem of security. A Sub-Committee was appointed to draw up a comprehensive resolution dealing with the political aspect of the subject, and it was arranged that this should then be referred to the First Committee. The resolution, which consists of several paragraphs, notes with satisfaction the increasing number of arbitration conventions and treaties, emphasises the importance of the Treaties of Locarno, asserts the conviction that the ideas embodied in the Treaties of Locarno may well be accepted and put into practice by other States, and concludes by requesting the Council to recommend this course to all Members of the League and to offer its good offices for the conclusion of suitable agreements between nations. Upon the draft resolution being placed before the First Committee, some members of that Committee expressed the fear that the resolution might convey the impression that all the Members of the League endorsed the interpretation of Article 16 of the Covenant adopted by the signatories of the Treaties of Locarno. It was conceded on all hands that this was not intended, and the draft resolution was accepted on the rapporteur (M. Motta) undertaking to explain in his report exactly what was implied by the adoption of the resolution. In the course of the discussion M. Rolin (Belgium) proposed an amendment on the subject of the desirability of States adopting the compulsory arbitration clause in the protocol of the Court of International Justice. As this was a subject which was likely to come before the Imperial Conference, the proposal was resisted by the British, Indian, and other delegations. The resolution as approved by the First and Third Committees was passed by the Assembly.

PREPARATORY COMMISSION FOR THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

49. M. London (Netherlands) made a statement to the Third Committee as to the present position of the work on disarmament. A discussion followed, which extended over several meetings, and in which a considerable difference of opinion was manifested on the question whether it would be possible to convene the Conference before the next Assembly. Ultimately the Committee adopted a resolution thanking the members of the Preparatory Commission for their work and requesting them to hasten the completion of the same so that they might be able to draw up a programme for the Conference early next year, and the Committee asked the Council to convene the Conference before the next session of the Assembly "unless material difficulties render this impossible." The resolution was approved by the Assembly.

SUPERVISION OF THE PRIVATE MANUFACTURE OF ARMS, AMMUNITION AND IMPLEMENTS OF WAR.

50. Several speakers in the Third Committee pointed out the close connection between the manufacture of arms and the general problem of disarmament and insisted upon the necessity of concluding a Convention on the subject of the manufacture of arms as soon as possible. In the result the Committee proposed that the Council should continue its enquiries on the subject in order that it might be included in the programme of the Disarmament Conference if that Conference could be convened before the next session of the Assembly, but if that proved to be impracticable the Committee proposed that a special Conference on the subject should be convened as soon as possible. The Assembly approved this proposal.

CODIFICATION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

51. The discussion in the First Committee on the report of the Committee of Experts in connection with the proposed Codification of International Law elicited a great variety of opinions. Some delegates considered that the Committee had embarked upon too wide a range of subjects, others that it was dealing with subjects which were already under the consideration of international organisations, an unnecessary duplication of labour, while others complained that the Committee was putting forward the opinions of individual jurists instead of the opinions of the Committee as a whole, and that this was not likely to lead to any useful result. Others again were satisfied with the work that was being done and deprecated interference with the Committee. As it was clear that there was no prospect of securing unanimity the Chairman proposed that the minutes of the discussion should be sent to the Committee of Experts for their information, and this was agreed to.

PROPOSED COLLECTION OF INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS.

52. A proposal by the Norwegian Delegation that the Secretariat should be requested to prepare as complete a statement as possible of undertakings at present in force between States providing for obligatory resort to a judicial or friendly settlement of disputes was referred to the First Committee, but was withdrawn after it had been pointed out that the proposed compilation would entail immense labour and that the substance of the required information was already to be found in existing publications.

NUMBERING OF THE PARAGRAPHS OF THE ARTICLES OF THE COVENANT.

53. The first Committee adopted without discussion a simple but useful proposal made by the Australian Delegation, that the different paragraphs of the Articles of the Covenant should be numbered The proposal was accepted by the Assembly.

COMMITTEE II.—Technical Organisations.

GREEK REFUGEES SETTLEMENT COMMISSION.

54. The Commission, with the help of a loan of £10,000,000 raised with the assistance of the League and secured on Greek revenues, has established a total of about 687,000 refugees from Asia Minor and other Turkish territory in various parts of Greece at a cost of £100 per family, including housing. It has also housed between 100,000 and 200,000 urban refugees. At the time the migration began Greece had a population of 5,000,000. It is estimated that 1,400,000 refugees have since migrated into Greece.

Although the work of this Commission is of no material interest to India, it is right to record that Sir J. Campbell (I.C.S., retired) is a member of the Commission and shares in the credit due to the conspicuous success which has so far attended its labours. The Second Committee and the Assembly warmly commended the work of the Commission.

THE HEALTH ORGANISATION.

55. Speaking in the Second Committee at the Sixth Assembly Sir Atul Chatterjee had expressed approval of the recent establishment at Singapore of a bureau to collect and disseminate epidemiological intelligence in the East, and had suggested that the Health Organisation might profitably devote more attention in future to health questions in Eastern countries. The attention of the Seventh Assembly was directed again to this means of interesting the East in League work in the speech of His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala, to which we have already referred. From more than one point of view the development of the Singapore Epidemiological Bureau has a deep significance. Not only is the establishment of the bureau likely to produce valuable results from the health point of view but it indicates that the League, which had in its early years been obliged to devote its attention and its energies mainly to the problems resulting in European and adjoining countries from the Great War, is now able to carry its activities further afield, and is approaching the fulfilment of its original conception as a world-wide organisation.

56. The Singapore Bureau had now been in operation for more than a year, but the League itself had not contributed financially to its support. The Committee had before it a report by Dr. Rajchman, Medical Director of the League, which was of special value because he had recently visited the bureau in the course of a tour of the Far East. Tributes were paid to the value and the significance of the bureau, but the discussion chiefly turned on the question of its financial support.

57. The foundation of the bureau would not have been possible without the aid of a grant of 125,000 gold dollars from the Rockefeller Foundation, to be spread over a period of five years, but this sum is not sufficient for its maintenance. The deficit of about 1,500 gold dollars for 1926 has been met by contribution either actually made or promised from a number of the participating countries. The Government of India, in view of its large contribution to the League Budget, had been unable to contribute directly to the bureau, though it had supplied free wireless transmission from stations in India of epidemiological intelligence circulated from it. Japan, in promising a contribution, had expressed the view that the expenditure was a legitimate charge upon the funds of the League. The Council of the League had accepted the Health Committee's report on the understanding that the Singapore Bureau would be financed out of the Rockefeller grant and contributions from the participating States. In these circumstances there was a clear prospect of controversy.

58. In opening the discussion on the work of the Health Organisation, the delegate for Uruguay referred to the approval of the Singapore Bureau which had been expressed by His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala in his speech in the Assembly. The Japanese delegate spoke in support of the proposition that the time had come for part at any rate of the expenditure of the bureau to be incorporated in the budget of the League, and he moved that a sum for the expenses of the bureau should be included in the budget for 1927. Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar followed with a speech of great weight, in which he argued that the bureau was of international importance from the health point of view, that its existence was a token of the League's world-wide interests, and that India was already making as big a contribution as it could afford to questions of tropical hygiene. His speech, which will be reproduced in full in our Final Report, made a great impression on the Committee, and in effect settled the question of principle whether the bureau was wide enough in its scope to justify support from the funds of the League. Subsequent discussions turned on the question how much the League could afford to contribute to supplement the Rockefeller Foundation grants. It was eventually decided that the League should make such a contribution to the Singapore Bureau as would raise the total Health Budget to 1,000,000 gold francs, a maximum accepted last year. This leaves a certain sum of money to be found from elsewhere, either from other heads of the Health Budget or from independent contributions, but an important question of principle has been satisfactorily settled.

INTELLECTUAL CO-OPERATION.

59. The Committee heard an extremely interesting report from M. Luchaire, the Director of the International Institute of Intellectual Co-operation, which has lately been founded in Paris by the generosity of the French Government. He explained that there was no question of attempting to regulate intellectual labour through the Institute, such labour being by definition free and spontaneous. But it was hoped to improve the conditions in which it took place by promoting a better understanding between Governments, institutions and individuals.

60. Speaking first in the subsequent discussion, Khan Bahadur Shaikh Abdul Qadir mentioned with approval some of the objects of the Institute and referred to the connection of Sir Jagadis Bose and Sir Atul Chatterjee with it. He said that, as the home of one of the most ancient civilisations of the world, India had a profound faith in intellectual culture, and believed that the solution of the great problems of humanity lay in the recognition by the nations of the value of the contributions made by each of them to the progress of mankind and in a better appreciation of the merits of one another.

61. Later in the debate Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, referring to proposals of a Committee, on which Mr. S. N. Chaturvedi served as an Indian educational expert, for educating the young in the ideals and objects of the League of Nations, mentioned the value from this point of view of such organisations as that of the Boy Scouts and the encouraging development of the movement in India.

PREPARATORY COMMITTEE FOR THE ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

62. This Committee was constituted by the Council of the League in pursuance of a resolution framed by the Sixth Assembly. The Committee consists of a number of experts drawn from various nations, of whom Sir Atul Chatterjee is one. They are surveying the whole economic field with a view to isolating questions which the future International Economic Conference might be profitably invited to consider. The Preparatory Committee has not yet completed its task and is to meet again in November. The object of the conference is rather to ascertain what would be economically desirable within the international field than to draw up Conventions which Governments would engage to execute. Following on the remarks of Mr. Latham (Australia) in a speech in the Assembly to which we have referred, much of the discussion in the Second Committee turned on whether the members of the conference should be representatives of the participating Governments or economic experts. The opposing views were difficult to reconcile, and the resolution proposed by M. Loucheur (France), who initiated the proposal at the Sixth Assembly, and eventually adopted, left a wide field for the discretion of the Council and of the Governments, while stressing the importance of the Committee making active efforts to finish its work so that the Conference may be convened as soon as possible.

63. In the course of the debate Khan Bahadur Shaikh Abdul Qadir stated that India viewed the proposed conference with great interest and that she approved the policy of the Committee in proceeding to isolate specific problems from a general survey of the economic field. He stated that the experience of India since the war afforded much material for the consideration of the problems with which the Economic Conference would have to deal, and that she was seriously concerned with the difference between the levels of prices for raw materials and manufactured articles. He alluded also to the difficulties which producers experienced from the great fluctuations of demand and he expressed himself in favour of a conference of experts.

ECONOMIC COMMITTEE.

64. This body is one of the standing organisations of the League and deals with a variety of economic questions which are referred to it from time to time. Among other subjects it has drawn up a draft Convention for the abolition of those export and import restrictions which are believed to be a great obstacle to international trade at the present time. This draft has been referred to the various Governments, and the Committee had analysed and annotated the replies of the Government with a view to the consideration of the whole question by an international conference of representative delegates which is to be held in the near future for the purpose of arriving at an international agreement.

65. In the course of the discussion Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar stated that no measures were enforced in India which could on a reasonable definition of the terms be regarded as improper restrictions on imports, but that various matters of detail would have to be brought forward for discussion at the proposed conference. From the general point of view, however, he intimated that public opinion in India would not favour the adoption by India of any Convention that was not equally adopted by countries with whom India had important trade relations, and that consequently it would not be satisfactory to India that the condition on which the Convention should come into force should be its ratification by countries belonging exclusively to Europe, as was proposed in the draft. Having regard to what had already been said in the Assembly as to the importance of early ratification of Conventions concluded at Geneva, this comment came with especial force.

BULGARIAN REFUGEES AND AUSTRIAN FINANCIAL RECONSTRUCTION.

66. Khan Bahadur Shaikh Abdul Qadir intervened in the discussion on these two subjects to say that, remote as they were from the direct interests of India, India rejoiced with other countries in the work of amelioration that the League was carrying out. He thought that such work would do much to convince the world of the League's practical value, and that in these days no nation can be unconcerned as to the fate of another. He appositely quoted the words of the Persian poet Saadi :—

"All men are limbs of one body,
Because in their birth they are one essence ;
When one of the limbs is in trouble
The other limbs cannot remain unconcerned."

COMMUNICATIONS AND TRANSIT.

67. The Second Committee favoured, but the Fourth Committee was unable to recommend, sufficient budgetary assistance for holding outside Europe the Third General Conference on Communications and Transit, which will examine in particular the possibility of improving the liaison between the League organisation and the technical administrations of non-European countries. It was suggested that the Conference, which was first held in Barcelona and next in Geneva, should this time be convened in South America. The Indian Delegation did not intervene in the discussion, but considered that there were forcible arguments for holding outside Europe a conference which would mainly concern itself with the non-European countries' needs.

COMMITTEE IV.—Finance and Budget.

BUDGET.

68. The discussion on the budget was opened on general lines by Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, who moved the following resolution :—

"That this Committee, noting the tendency of the budget of the League to increase and considering that in the present financial state of most countries of the world every effort should be made to resist that tendency, is of opinion that as a preliminary to the discussion of the details of the budget, and as a general guide to their consideration, it is desirable to keep in view a maximum limit of expenditure with the object of securing that the contributions of individual States shall not normally in future exceed their contributions for the current year ; that the maximum expenditure to be kept in view should in effect approximate to the total expenditure for 1926, with such adjustments as may be necessitated by additions to or withdrawals from the number of contributory States Members, and that copies of this Resolution should be communicated to other Committees concerned with measures involving expenditure."

This resolution had been drafted after previous consultation with members of the British Empire Delegations and other influential members of the Fourth Committee. It was carefully framed, as Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar explained to the Committee, in order to avoid the conception of a hard and fast limit. He held that the Fourth Committee would be justified in adopting such a principle, both for their own guidance in the discussion of the details of the budget and for the attention of other Committees which might be disposed to adopt proposals involving additional expenditure. The resolution made no attempt to impose a check on legitimate expenditure or to set limits to the normal development of the League's genuinely international activities, to which, in fact, India looked forward. He quoted a statement of the Secretary-General before the Supervisory Commission of 1925 that, "barring unforeseen political events, the League budget had now attained practical stability, and subsequent variations would be relatively small," in spite of which the estimate for 1927 showed an increase of over 7 per cent. If Germany's accession were financially a gain the Assembly could not ignore the possibility of other contributions lapsing after two years (i.e., those of Spain and Brazil, whose resignation from the League would then take effect). Many countries were under the obligation of exercising the most rigid economy, and the League might well set a good example.

69. The motion was followed by an interesting and valuable discussion which brought out some of the peculiarities of League finance. The Assembly being a body consisting of sovereign powers, and the Council not possessing those financial powers which are ordinarily vested in an executive, all States Members are free to propose measures involving expenditure, and there is no authority specifically charged with the responsibility of assigning priority to such measures. In these circumstances the growth of expenditure is specially difficult to control, and the voluntary acceptance of an arbitrary maximum may, in the end, be found the only effective solution. This principle is, for practical purposes, already in operation for the Health budget. It is not, however, practicable at the present time to attempt to apply the principle of a fixed maximum to the total budget, and the Indian resolution aimed rather at securing the avoidance of increased contributions than at preventing increased expenditure. The new contribution from Germany made this distinction possible. The passage of the resolution was secured, subject to certain modifications which did not seriously affect its aim and substance, in the following form :—

"The Fourth Committee,

"Noting the tendency of the budget of the League to increase, and considering that in the present financial state of most countries of the world, every effort should be made to resist this tendency,

"Is of opinion that, as a preliminary to the discussion of the details of the budget, and as a general guide to their consideration, it is desirable, without putting obstacles in the way of the development of the League, to keep in view a maximum limit of expenditure with the object of securing that the contributions of individual States shall not normally in future exceed their contributions for the current year.

"Copies of this resolution should be communicated to other Committees concerned with measures involving expenditure."

The discussion produced a considerable impression, and we venture to express the belief that it had some effect both in enhancing the prestige of the Indian Delegation and in inducing an atmosphere of economy in the scrutiny of the details of the budget and in the examination in the other Committees of new projects involving expenditure. The resolution was on various occasions referred to in the course of other debates. The report rendered by the Fourth Committee to the Assembly stated that "their intervention was facilitated by the adoption of the resolution submitted by the delegation for India"; it further described the resolution as "a serious warning likely to exercise influence on all concerned."

EMPLOYMENT OF INDIANS IN SECRETARIAT AND INTERNATIONAL LABOUR OFFICE.

70. This is a matter which has been often ventilated by Indian Delegations at previous Assemblies. The absence of facilities for the employment of their own nationals at Geneva is a source of concern to many delegations besides that of India. The Norwegian Delegation pointed out in the Assembly that delegates from countries speaking neither English nor French were much handicapped at Geneva by the lack of personnel at the Secretariat able to discuss matters with them in their own language. On the present occasion the Indian delegate in the Fourth Committee intervened when the subject was raised by others to remind the Committee that India also had claims on this account. Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar recognised the goodwill of the authorities and the difficulties of satisfying the claims advanced; he based the claim for Indian representation on the broad ground that it would serve to cultivate and spread the international spirit. This speech is reproduced in our Final Report.

Sir William Vincent also wrote personally to the Secretary-General and Director-General of the International Labour Office, inviting their attention to the remarks of Sir Ramaswami Ayyar and suggesting that impending vacancies should be notified some time in advance of the date on which they would actually occur in order that distant countries might be in as good a position to put forward candidates as those nearer the seat of the League.

BUILDING FUND.

71. The funds from which the building scheme is being financed have resulted from the excess of the contributions paid by Member States from the commencement of the League over the actual expenses of the League in the same period. In order to adjust on a proper basis the amounts which every Member will have eventually contributed to the cost of the new buildings, a refund has to be made to those States whose overpayments have provided the financial basis of the building scheme. The actual method of calculation is too elaborate to be described here, but it appears to be eminently fair. Under it a total sum of 1,400,000 francs will be refunded annually for a number of years, of which India will apparently receive about 6½ per cent. It is satisfactory therefore to record that the contributions due from India to the League will be reduced annually by a substantial amount.

ALLOCATION OF EXPENSES.

72. This year and next year, owing to the fixation of the scale of allocation of expenses of the League between its Members by the Sixth Assembly up to and including the year 1928, there was no discussion of the question of individual States' contributions. The contribution of Germany on admission to the League was fixed at 79 units, at which France is also assessed. It had been provisionally decided at the Extraordinary Session of the Assembly in March that these units would be added to the existing total of 937 units for other States of the League, thus reducing the monetary equivalent of the unit.

CONTRIBUTION OF INDIA FOR 1927.

73. The budget of the League for 1927, after taking account of all expenditure approved by the Seventh Assembly, balances at 24,512,341 gold francs (as compared with 22,930,633 gold francs for 1926). The value of the unit is 24.126·3 gold francs. India will pay 56 units or 1.351,072·8 gold francs, that is to say, roughly £54,000 for the year 1927, less the amount accruing under the Building Fund repayment scheme. For 1926 India has paid 1,370,454 gold francs. It will thus be seen that Germany's accession to the League has enabled additional expenditure, amounting to nearly 1,600,000 gold francs, to be incurred, while slightly reducing the individual contributions of other States Members of the League. It may be added that the principal destination of the additional expenditure is the creation of new posts, including that of an additional Under Secretary-General, to be filled partly by recruitment of German nationals.

ARREARS OF CONTRIBUTION.

74. A Sub-Committee was appointed to consider this somewhat delicate question and presented a confidential report. The Assembly adopted its proposal to write off a sum owing from Panama. It also requested China, which is heavily in arrears, "to propose effective and concrete method acceptable to the League of Nations, with a view to the payment of her contributions in arrear." The Council has been asked to study the legal position of States which do not pay their contributions for report to the next Assembly. We reproduce in our Final Report the Report of the Fourth Committee to the Assembly on the Budget, which explains fully its chief characteristics, and the various other decisions taken by the Committee which cannot conveniently be summarised in this Report.

COMMITTEE V.—Social Questions.

CHILD WELFARE.

75. The Child Welfare Committee of the Advisory Commission for the Protection and Welfare of Children and Young People has pursued its activities with a zeal which, in the opinion of certain authorities, has led it somewhat beyond the limits fixed by the Assembly. This view had in fact been expressed by the British representative on the Council of the League, and the Council had passed a resolution which implied a caution in this sense. It is true that its labours consist to a large extent of the collection and dissemination of information regarding the activities of various countries and that they do not always contemplate the eventual formulation and acceptance of international conventions; but there is some difference of opinion as to whether this purely informative procedure is a justifiable feature of the League's work in matters of this kind. A connection may be indicated between these considerations and the resolution submitted by Lord Cecil to the Assembly that the Assembly should be requested to consider and report what questions are and what are not within the sphere of action of the League.

76. His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala had indicated in his speech in the Assembly that he would take an opportunity in Committee to refer in detail to the proper limits of international action with special reference to the conditions of India, and the occasion for these remarks occurred in the discussion on the Report of the Child Welfare Committee. In his speech, which will be reproduced in our Final Report, he expressed the fullest sympathy with the work of the Child Welfare movement, and illustrated the remarkable and significant developments which are now in progress in India. But at the same time he emphasised the great and deeply-rooted differences of culture and tradition which exist between Asiatic and European communities, and gave reasons for doubting whether national conditions can be beneficially influenced by international activity where there is little in common between the different systems. He spoke in support of a resolution moved by the British delegate who proposed to postpone certain of the Committee's projects pending the issue of Lord Cecil's motion in the Assembly. This resolution was modified in the course of the discussion until it emerged in a form less satisfactory than the original from the Indian point of view. But it may be expected that His Highness's weighty and informative speech, reinforcing as it did that of His Highness the Maharaja of Patiala at the Sixth Assembly, will have its due influence upon the future course of these activities.

77. In the report to the Assembly on the subject adopted by the Fifth Committee a paragraph was added at the instance of Sir Basanta Mullick, drawing attention to the view of the Indian Delegation that caution should be shown by the League in approaching questions of this kind in connection with countries like India of very different traditions and ideas than those prevailing in Europe.

TRAFFIC IN OPIUM AND OTHER DANGEROUS DRUGS.

78. The Committee had before it resolutions adopted by the Opium Advisory Committee of the League [of which Sir John Campbell, I.C.S. (retired), is a member.] calling attention to the gravity of the present situation of the illicit traffic, especially in manufactured drugs, the lack of control over the conveyance of opium from the Persian Gulf on ships calling at its ports so as to prevent the diversion of such opium into the illicit traffic, and the failure to ratify the Geneva Opium Convention, 1925. Lord Cecil emphasised the importance of early ratification of the Geneva Convention, but the Italian delegate said that Italy considered that the present situation arose rather from the failure to apply the provisions of the Hague Convention, 1912. He criticised the constitution of the Advisory Committee as being unduly representative of the producing countries. He did not agree with the institution of a Permanent Central Board to supervise the traffic in drugs and thought that the Secretariat of the League alone was susceptible of a sufficient control by the Council to enable this control to be properly exercised. Apart from the Italian and Chinese delegates, the Committee as a whole agreed that it was extremely difficult to secure an effective control of the international traffic in opium and drugs until the Geneva Convention had been brought into operation, and the Resolution proposed by the Fifth Committee, which was eventually adopted by the Assembly, urged the Governments of all States Members to proceed to ratify or adhere to the Convention, so that, if possible, it might be brought into force before the end of the year. So far the only ratifications of the Convention which have been deposited are those of the States of the British Empire.

79. Sir Basanta Mullick, on behalf of the Indian Delegation, made a full statement of the measures which have been taken in India to bring the production and distribution of opium under full control. He informed the Committee that steps had been taken to introduce absolute prohibition of export of opium except for medical and scientific purposes by the year 1935. On the other hand, in India itself, where drugs with an opium basis only were manufactured for medical and scientific purposes under Government control for consumption in India or export to the United Kingdom, statistics which Sir Basanta Mullick quoted shewed that contraband imports of morphine and cocaine were increasing in alarming proportions. He drew attention to information in the Report of the Advisory Committee as to the seizure of illicit drugs made by the excise administrations of certain Local Governments. He supported strongly the ratification and bringing into force of the Geneva Convention and explained the measures which are taken in India to repress illicit traffic in drugs by notifying to the Governments concerned all cases where contraband products from their territories are smuggled into India for the purpose of identification and punishment of the offenders. Prior to the meeting the Indian Delegation had brought to the notice of the Japanese Delegation certain cases in which contraband drugs of Japanese origin had been smuggled into India, and had asked and received an assurance that these cases, regarding which so far no reply had been received from the Japanese Government, would be promptly investigated. In the course of the discussion the Persian delegate repeated a statement made by him at the Sixth Assembly that contraband opium reaches Persia from the North-West Frontier of India. Sir Basanta Mullick repudiated this suggestion. He informed Prince Arfa that very little opium is grown in the North-West of India, and that in any case it was wholly insufficient to account for the amount of contraband opium which was shown to be smuggled by ships from Persian Ports. He begged the Persian delegate to produce any proofs of his statement, in order that they might be forwarded to the Government of India for purposes of enquiry. The Report adopted by the Fifth Committee expressed appreciation of the efforts made by the Government of India towards diminishing the consumption of opium and dangerous drugs and the export of opium and, in particular, its decision to extinguish totally the export of opium for other than medical and scientific purposes within a period of 10 years.

ARMENIAN AND RUSSIAN REFUGEES.

80. In the course of the last year a Committee has been examining the possibility of establishing in the Republic of Erivan at least 25,000 Armenian refugees. It has reported that the scheme is workable but requires funds for irrigation work and settlement which should ultimately be amortised out of returns from the land when in cultivation. The Council of the League has not been able to agree to associate itself with a loan for this purpose, such as has been raised for financial reconstruction in Austria and Hungary, and for settlement of refugees in Greece and Bulgaria, but has expressed its willingness to nominate suitable trustees for the expenditure of money raised from private organisations, if desired to do so by those who provide the funds. The Fifth Committee recommended, and the Assembly decided to ask the Council to set up a small Committee to investigate the possibility of obtaining the sum required and, in the meantime, has allotted from the budget to the High Commissioner for Refugees, Dr. Nansen, a small sum to provide for the printing and distribution of literature regarding the proposed financial operation, in order to appeal for support in Europe or America.

81. The Committee also took note of reports of the work which is being done by the High Commissioner in conjunction with the International Labour Office for settlement of Russian and Armenian refugees in employment in the countries to which they had migrated. Statements were made on behalf of various countries where the refugees have settled as to the possibility of adhering to a scheme proposed by Dr. Nansen for the creation of a fund for the assistance of refugees by collection of surcharges on the Identity Certificates issued to them. The Government of India have accepted the principle of this surcharge in respect of the few Russian and Armenian refugees who have migrated to India, and a statement on the subject was made by Sir Basanta Mullick. Considerable discussion was aroused by a proposal that the organisation created to deal with this particular class of refugees should also concern itself with the assistance of other unemployed workers. Many delegates felt that unemployment as a whole is, in most of its aspects, a national and not an international question and demurred to this proposal being included in the draft Report to the Assembly on refugee question presented by the German delegate. Sir Basanta Mullick joined other representatives of the British Empire Delegations in supporting a vigorous speech by the Australian delegate resisting the proposal and calling attention to the proper scope of the League's activities. The Assembly, on the recommendation of the Fifth Committee, invited the Council to consider how far the measures already taken to protect, employ and relieve Russian and Armenian refugees could be extended to other analogous categories of refugees, but did not agree to the Refugee Commission concerning itself with unemployment problems generally.

GENERAL.

82. Both in regard to Child Welfare and Russian and Armenian Refugees questions, discussions in the Fifth Committee brought into prominence the undesirability of the League's occupying itself with matters which are primarily the concern of domestic legislation. This view, which was expressed in a Resolution moved by Lord Cecil in the Assembly and ultimately postponed for consideration at the next Assembly, was strongly supported in the discussions in the Fifth Committee by the delegates of the British Empire, the Dominions and India. It is possible that these discussions may have created in the minds of other delegations the impression that the representatives of the British Empire Delegations were attempting unduly to restrict and delimit the activities of the League. Yet various projects which had been approved by the Fifth Committee for financial support of charitable undertakings in the Near East were, no doubt as a result of the attitude taken up by the British Empire Delegations, adversely reported on by the Fourth Committee, from the budgetary point of view, and, as a result, abandoned. The Fifth Committee is apt to be moved by considerations which appeal to the heart rather than to the head. The attitude adopted by His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala and Sir Basanta Mullick towards proposals likely to be misinterpreted in India, however benevolently conceived, resulted in their modification to a more acceptable form.

COMMITTEE VI.—Political Questions, Slavery and Mandates.

THE SLAVERY CONVENTION.

83. Our predecessors at the Sixth Assembly gave an account in their reports of the previous discussions at Geneva regarding Slavery, which led up to the proposal in 1925 by the British Delegation of a new Slavery Convention. We need only say here that considerable information had been collected by the League from various sources showing that unfortunately the trade in slaves still goes on, especially between Africa and the Arabian coast, and that there are traces of slavery, or practices akin to slavery, in other parts of the world. The Sixth Assembly adopted for consideration by the Governments of States Members a draft Convention for conclusion at the Seventh Assembly, if approved, of which the following were most important features. Slavery and the slave trade were specifically defined. The signatory States were to undertake to suppress the slave trade and to bring about progressively and as soon as possible the disappearance of slavery in every form. Further, they were to take all necessary measures to prevent conditions analogous to those of slavery from resulting from compulsory or forced labour, and to tolerate forced labour for private purposes only under strict supervision and in exceptional circumstances. The draft Convention provided for separate accession, in respect of the whole or certain articles, in regard to the whole or any territories under the sovereignty, jurisdiction, or protection of the Signatory States.

84. Observations on the draft Convention were received by the League from many Governments and communicated to the delegates at the Seventh Assembly. It accordingly became necessary to re-examine the draft Convention with reference to the observations and amendments proposed. The Sixth Committee was fully occupied throughout the Assembly in conducting this examination. Sir William Vincent represented the Indian Delegation in the discussions. It was only on the last day of the Assembly that the Convention and four Resolutions, which are reproduced as an Appendix to this Report, were finally adopted. The Convention was immediately signed on behalf of about 24 States, subject, however, to important reservations by India and Persia, which are also reproduced in the Appendix. Apart from the Statute of the Court of International Justice, which was adopted and signed at the First Assembly (1920), and the Protocol for the Pacific Settlement of International Disputes, adopted by the Fifth Assembly (1924), the Slavery Convention is the only international instrument which has been concluded in the course of an Assembly session without a special conference for plenipotentiaries. Our experience leads us to think that an Assembly session is an inapropriate occasion for the conclusion of separate international agreements of this character which are intended to be open for immediate signature. The preoccupations of the delegates at the Assembly are so various, and their attention to any one subject is so frequently interrupted, that it is difficult for the delegation to undertake the laborious and detailed study of the text which an international agreement demands. Had it been possible for the Governments of States Members to accept the draft Convention in the form in which it emerged from the Sixth Assembly, subject only to minor drafting amendments, there would have been no strong objections to the procedure adopted. But the observations of many Governments on the draft Convention and many of the amendments proposed at the Assembly were on questions of substance which had not been previously referred to Governments. Sir William Vincent reiterated frequently in the discussions the importance of adhering as far as possible to the original text which the delegations of many Governments were prepared to accept. He was strongly supported in this attitude by the delegates of Italy and Portugal. Nevertheless, some important changes had to be agreed to, though not without misgivings, in order to facilitate the acceptance of the Convention. The most important of them was the redraft of Article 3 of the Convention, which, however, provoked rigorous reservations as regards India and Persia.

85. While it would not be practicable, without unduly lengthening this report, to mention all the various points raised in the discussions, it will probably be of interest if we point out the more important questions of principle involved. The Government of India had informed the League that it was prepared to accept the provisions of the draft Convention adopted by the Sixth Assembly, subject to certain minor drafting alterations and a reservation, the reason for which its delegation would explain at the Assembly, in respect of certain unadministered territory and the Indian States. The Indian Delegation was instructed to state at the Assembly that it was necessary to exclude from the terms of the Convention certain unadministered territories on the frontiers of Assam and Burma, where insufficient authority is at present exercised to ensure the suppression of practices akin to slavery known or believed to exist. While prepared to bind India as a whole to the obligations of suppressing the slave trade and other general obligations to be undertaken vis-a-vis the other Signatories, the Government of India would not be committed to undertake warlike operations now or in the future in order to suppress the practices referred to in these unadministered tracts. For other reasons of a constitutional nature it was necessary to exclude the Indian States from certain obligations under the Convention. Some of these would involve direct interference with the domestic administration of the Indian States. Recent enquiries had satisfied the Government of India that slavery in the ordinary sense is not now practised in any Indian State, and that where conditions are present which may be held to amount to forced labour of the kind against which the Convention is directed, no serious abuses exist, and progress is, in fact, being made in the removing or mitigating of such conditions. The Government of India, we were informed, would be prepared to urge Indian Rulers to initiate measures of reform if they had reason to believe that gross abuses existed in their States, but did not consider that the conditions revealed by their recent enquiries would justify interference to secure full enforcement of the provisions of the Slavery Convention, seeing that in many States the standard aimed at by the Convention has already been attained, and that in all other States steady progress is being effected both by public opinion and by the spontaneous action of the Rulers. Apart from these reasonable reservations, the grounds for which Sir William Vincent explained to the Committee in a statement which we shall reproduce in our Final Report, the Indian Delegation was authorised to sign the Slavery Convention if concluded in a form similar to that already considered in India.

86. Certain of the observations of other Governments require to be mentioned. The British Government had proposed a number of drafting amendments tending to clarify the diplomatic provisions of the original draft, in particular as regards the maintenance of the previous international agreements regarding slavery. Its main proposals, however, were (1) that the slave trade should be recognised as piracy, or alternatively that the Signatory States should undertake to execute an agreement enabling their warships to proceed against any vessel on the high seas of any Signatory State and suspected of being engaged in the slave trade in areas where such trade may be expected to exist; (2) that the Signatory States should undertake to communicate to the League present and future laws enacted to control or suppress the slave trade, slavery or forced labour, for publication in the Report of the Assembly by the Council of the League. The Indian

Delegation was instructed to support these proposals. The German Government had commented at considerable length on various provisions. Its comments were chiefly directed towards strengthening the obligations as regards control of forced labour and various practices held to be akin to slavery, such as debt slavery, sham adoption, childhood marriage, etc. Similar observations and amendments were made in the course of the discussions by Dr. Nansen (Norway). The Portuguese and South African Governments had taken exception to the inclusion in the Convention of obligations as regards compulsory labour, which in the opinion of the Portuguese Government required to be defined if mentioned at all. The French Government brought up again a proposal made by its delegates at the Sixth Assembly, which proved to be the chief crux in arriving at an agreement. It wished to incorporate in the provisions for control of the slave trade by sea provisions based on the corresponding article in the Arms Traffic Convention for maritime supervision of the trade in arms. In the ensuing discussions, which were conducted in a Sub-Committee of the Sixth Committee, including representatives of the countries which had made observations on the draft Convention, the observations of Governments and amendments proposed by the various delegations were dealt with article by article. In this Report we propose only to comment on Articles 2, 3, 5 and 9, which are of special interest to India reserving for our Final Report such remarks as have to be made on the discussion of the other articles.

Article 2.

87. Sub-paragraph (b) of this Article read as follows in the draft adopted by the Sixth Assembly :—" to bring about progressively and as soon as possible the disappearance of slavery in all its forms, notably in the case of domestic slavery and similar conditions."

The German Delegation proposed to incorporate in the text other conditions besides domestic slavery which they considered to resemble slavery, such as debt slavery, slave adoption, child marriage, traffic in women, etc. It was argued by the South African delegate that domestic slavery is not necessarily in all cases the same as slavery. Where it is tantamount to slavery, as defined in Article I of the Convention, the Signatory Powers are undertaking in the first portion of the above-quoted sentence to abolish it. The German Delegation still pressed for the insertion of a special sub-paragraph undertaking to bring about the disappearance of all conditions of servitude resembling slavery. Sir William Vincent pointed out that the introduction of an additional clause of this character might have the unfortunate effect of causing Governments to reconsider the whole Convention before agreeing to its signature. The original text had been carefully considered in India, not only by the Central Government itself, but by all the Local Governments responsible for the execution of such an agreement among many peoples of diverse types. If the text of this important Article were materially altered, it would hardly be possible for him to sign the Convention, as he hoped to do, without further reference to the Government of India. Finally, the Sub-Committee agreed on the text which was ultimately adopted on the understanding that reference to the foregoing discussion should be made in the report of the Sixth Committee to the Assembly on the Convention. This report is reproduced in an appendix to our Final Report. The Indian Delegation considers that the drafting of Article 2 has been much improved by the omission of special reference to domestic slavery. The Sixth Committee interprets the Article in its present form as tending to bring about the disappearance from written legislation or from the customs of a country of everything which attempts the maintenance of a private individual of rights over another person of the same nature as the rights which an individual can have over things. Obviously, the detailed application of this provision must be left to the discretion of the Governments of each of the Signatory States.

Article 3.

88. The Indian Delegation came to Geneva prepared to support either of the two British proposals, which have been already explained, for rendering the maritime supervision of the slave trade more effective. The British proposal that the slave trade should be treated as piracy proved unacceptable to the French and Italian Delegations. It appeared that France and Italy were apprehensive of the effect of increasing the rights exercisable by warships on the high seas over their merchant vessels. The second British proposal, for an agreement between the Signatory States enabling the warships of each to proceed against the vessels of the others believed to be engaged in the slave trade, was also resisted. The Italian Delegation considered that separate agreements should be made between each of the Signatory States instead of one agreement, and that the zone in which special rights were to be exercised should be determined in the agreement as well as the type and tonnage of vessels liable to be visited. The French Delegation proposed, as an alternative, that the provisions for defining the type of vessel liable to be visited, the area in which that visit might take place and the rights to be exercised, should be as defined in the Arms Traffic Convention, 1925. The advantage from the French point of view of this proposal was that the Arms Traffic Convention provisions give no general right to search a vessel believed to carry arms, and restrict the right of visit to certain vessels of less than 500 tons (believed to carry arms) which are defined as

"native" vessels, that is to say, vessels manned, fitted out, commanded or owned by the natives of countries in an area bordering on the Indian Ocean bounded by the Arabian coast and the Persian Gulf on the north, the African coast on the west and the west coast of India on the east.

89. The Indian Delegation had been informed that the Government of India had not yet decided to ratify the Arms Traffic Convention because of the provision which involved Indian ships owned, manned or commanded by Indians being brought under the invidious description of "native" ships and being subjected to maritime supervision not applicable to the ships of other countries. Sir William Vincent endeavoured to persuade the French Delegation to drop its proposal. He pointed out that legislation by reference is always dangerous, and, in fact, some of the provisions of the Arms Traffic Convention which were quoted were quite out of place in the Slavery Convention, as they dealt with cargo and not with persons. He supported, in agreement with Lord Cecil, the proposals of the Italian Delegation. He said that most of the traffic in slaves appeared to be carried in Arab dhows, and it would be quite possible to confine the agreement to this class of vessel. After this discussion it was decided to refer the whole question to a small Sub-Committee, with instructions to present an agreed proposal. Lord Cecil kept the Indian Delegation informed from time to time of the course of the discussions. At one time it looked as though a formula might be found to define native vessels so as to exclude Indian vessels. Ultimately, however, the Italian Delegation refused to consider any new formula other than that in the Arms Traffic Convention, as this would involve further examination of the Slavery Convention by the Italian Government. Article 3, in the form in which it was ultimately adopted, was still open to the objections stated by Sir William Vincent when the discussion began. He, therefore, declared in the Sixth Committee when the Convention was adopted that he could not accept the Article as worded without further instructions. In the first place, the slave trade stood on an entirely different footing from arms traffic. Whereas, in certain circumstances the latter was legitimate, the conveyance of slaves on a native or any other vessel was in any case criminal. Secondly, there was no slave trade off the coast of India, and Indian ships were not employed for such traffic. It would not be consonant with the dignity of India to accept a Convention which clearly places Indians in a position of inferiority, and suggests that Indian ships are not entitled to be treated in exactly the same manner as the ships of other Powers. The reservation which was ultimately made by Sir William Vincent in signing the Slavery Convention differed, in certain respects, from that which he originally proposed to make in the Sixth Committee. He therefore read out its terms when speaking on the Convention as a whole in the Assembly, although he made it clear that by so doing he did not commit the Indian Delegation to the acceptance of the doctrine that it is strictly necessary to announce before signature of a Convention the terms of a reservation subject to which it is accepted. The Article, in its final form, binds Signatory States to negotiate a separate Convention regarding maritime supervision of the slave trade. It is to be hoped that when this Convention comes to be negotiated, the strong protests of the Indian and Persian Delegations against the proposal to class vessels coming from those countries as "native," and thereby subject to certain disabilities, will have made it clear that these provisions are unworkable.

Article 5.

90. Sub-para. (1) of this Article as worded in the draft adopted at the Sixth Assembly read as follows:—"In principle, compulsory or forced labour may only be exacted for public purposes." The text adopted by the Seventh Assembly was the result of long discussion. The words "in principle" were objected to by Dr. Nansen (Norway). Sir William Vincent pointed out that if their omission and the substitution of the words "subject to the transitional provisions laid down below" were a mere change of language, it was most unwise to alter the original text. On the other hand, if they implied a change of meaning, it was now difficult to obtain the concurrence of Governments to the substitution. He did not believe that the Local Governments in India responsible for the regulation of labour questions would agree to enforce penal sanctions, if this was intended, against forced labour in cases where it still existed, though without legal sanction, in India. Similar objections were made by the Portuguese, Netherlands and South African Delegations, but Dr. Nansen's amendment was carried by a vote. A long argument also took place on the question whether the Convention should provide for adequate remuneration always being given for compulsory labour for public purposes. Ultimately it was decided that this provision could not be inserted in the Convention itself. Instead, Resolution 3, reproduced in the Appendix to this Report, was adopted, recognising that forced labour for public purposes is sometimes necessary, but expressing the opinion that, as a general rule, it should not be resorted to unless it is impossible to obtain voluntary labour, and that it should receive adequate remuneration. Sir William Vincent made it clear that it must be understood that remuneration in India also covered indirect benefit. Work on canals and forests, and service on the frontier against raiders was not always remunerated in cash, but was of direct benefit to those engaged upon them. It also had to be understood that voluntary labour could not always be substituted for forced labour when, as a matter of convenience for the labourer and for Government and also of economy, it appeared preferable to have carried out by local labour as a compulsory service what would otherwise involve the bringing of contract labour from a distance.

91. In sub-para 3 of Article 5, the word "competent" was inserted, with other minor textual alterations, in order to make it clear that responsibility for recourse to compulsory labour rests, not with the Government of India, but with the Local Government or such other competent central authority as may be determined.

92. Attention is also invited to Resolution 4, reproduced in the Appendix. The Governing Body of the International Labour Office has nominated a Committee, in agreement with the International Labour Conference, 1926, to conduct a general enquiry into the questions of forced labour and native labour throughout the world. Sir Charles Low, I.C.S. (retired), has been invited to serve as an expert on Indian labour questions on this Committee. Dr. Nansen (Norway) was anxious that the Seventh Assembly should take cognisance of the decision of the International Labour Organisation. The Director of the Labour Office favoured the adoption of a resolution to call attention to the rights of the Labour Organisation to institute international regulation of any labour question. Sir William Vincent joined the delegates of Italy and France in objecting to the Assembly being asked to adopt a resolution attributing such wide powers to the Labour Organisation. He held that the Assembly was not concerned with the ultimate results of the Labour Office enquiry so much as with the fact that it had been instituted, which was of special interest having regard to the mention of compulsory labour in the Slavery Convention. The form in which the resolution was ultimately adopted took account of Sir William Vincent's observations.

Article 9.

93. This Article was introduced in order to enable Signatory States to contract out of the whole or any of the provisions of the Convention in respect of some or all of the territories over which they exercised authority. The form of this Article was a matter of importance to the Indian Delegation, as it had been instructed to declare that the Convention would not be binding on the unadministered tracts in Northern India and the Indian States. Both in this Article and in Articles 2 and 5 the word "suzerainty" was inserted at the proposal of Sir William Vincent in order to ensure ex majori cautela that the authority exercised by the King as High Contracting Party for the Indian States was adequately expressed. It is to be observed that the Article provides for subsequent separate accession on behalf of any territory which, for the time being, is excluded from the application of the Convention. Sir William Vincent stated that the provisions of the Convention would be brought by the Government of India to the notice of the Rulers of Indian States

94. The conclusion of the Slavery Convention was one of the most important achievements of the Seventh Assembly. The fact that it was immediately signed by some 24 States is most satisfactory. These States included the British Empire, Portugal and Belgium among the chief Colonial Powers. The signatures of France, Italy and the Netherlands had unfortunately to be withheld pending consideration of the Convention by their Governments. The South African delegate left Geneva before the Convention was opened for signature. The Indian Delegation considers that the Convention marks a practical step forward in the eradication of slavery and the slave trade. The opportunity was taken by Sir William Vincent to explain at the last meeting of the Assembly, when the Convention was adopted, that the reservations which he had been obliged to make on behalf of India were in no sense intended to impede its execution. He alluded to the important efforts made by the Local Governments, notably in Burma, to effect the eradication of traces of slavery and analogous conditions, and to the progressive abolition in India of the exaction of forced labour as a praedial obligation. He declared that India, if apt to scrutinise with jealousy the terms of such an agreement as this, was careful to enter into no solemn undertaking which she would not be prepared to implement, while her Government had to consider the effect of such an agreement on a vast population—one-fifth of the population of the world—living in very varying conditions.

MANDATES.

95. In accordance with custom, the Assembly referred for consideration in the Sixth Committee the Reports of the Mandates Commission on the administration of various territories by mandatory Powers. Dr. Nansen (Norway) drew attention to a recent discussion in the Council about the questionnaire prepared by the Mandates Commission for the use of the Powers exercising B and C Mandates, that is to say, mandates other than those over Syria, Palestine and Iraq. It had been said that if this questionnaire came into force government would no longer be vested in the mandatory Power, but in the Mandates Commission. Again, the Mandates Commission had asked the Council whether it would be desirable to draw up a procedure for the hearing in person of petitioners from mandated territories, and the Council had appeared to disapprove the introduction of such a procedure. Dr. Nansen, supported by the Swedish delegate, Mme. Bugge-Wicksell, a member of the Mandates Commission, proposed a resolution supporting the action of the Mandates Commission. Lord Cecil, who was supported by Mr. Smit (South Africa) and M. de Jouvenel (France), deprecated the view that the Assembly could properly judge between the Council and the Mandates Commission. He himself expressed the highest admiration of the Mandates Commission's work. Mr. Smit said the Mandates Commission must remember that it was dealing with sovereign States and had no power of initiation. M. de Jouvenel said that his experience as High Commissioner in Syria had enabled him to form a better judgment of the personality of some of the petitioners and of the value to be attached to their petitions than the Commission was able to do. He thought that the existence of the Commission was perhaps partly responsible for the prolongation of the Syrian revolt. These remarks provoked some resentment among members of the Mandates Commission, and M. de Jouvenel spoke again in a more conciliatory manner. The Chairman summed up the discussion with the hope that it would leave no impression that there was any kind of conflict between the Mandates Commission and any delegates on the Committee. Eventually a resolution was adopted, and ultimately passed by the Assembly, expressing confidence in the members of the Mandates Commission as well as in the members of the Council to ensure the application of the principles in the Article of the Covenant dealing with the exercise of mandates in a cordial spirit of co-operation with the mandatory Powers.

Concluding Observations.

96. We trust that this summary of our three weeks' work at Geneva will give a general indication of the wide range of subjects discussed at the Assembly and the attitude adopted by the Indian Delegation towards some of them. For a more detailed study of the conclusions reached by the Assembly, reference should be made to our Final Report. The outstanding event of this year's Assembly was the admission of Germany to the League. Her representatives at once made their influence felt in the course of the subsequent debates, and will certainly prove a valuable addition to the councils of the League. The effect of the Assembly's decisions in regard to the composition of the Council, which confirmed with little amendment the recommendations of the special Committee appointed to find a solution of the March crisis, will be more evident after one or more sessions of the enlarged Council have been held. It is at least a remarkable evidence of the democratic character of the League that States so small as Colombia and Salvador will now exercise equal rights on the Council with the Great Powers. The Assembly expressed its sense of the value of the Locarno Agreements in providing a measure of security in that part of Europe where peace has been most imperilled. For the time being it was content to point the way to other countries to enter into similar pacts without, this year, attempting to devise another agreement of universal application going beyond the terms of the Covenant in order to obtain by methods of arbitration, a general guarantee of security. The delegations of many of the smaller European countries showed anxiety to accelerate the pace of measures for reduction of armaments, while the representatives of the Great Powers expressed the need for caution and full investigation, in order that failure to reach agreement on this difficult question might be avoided. The position was somewhat similar in regard to the proposed Economic Conference, the ultimate success of which would seem likely to be in proportion to the thoroughness of the preparatory work now being undertaken. The need for cautious progress in these matters of world policy is shown by the unsatisfactory record in the matter of ratification of technical agreements already signed by representatives of Member States.

97. It was well that the British Empire Delegations undertook the unpopular task of reminding the Assembly of the danger of bringing within the range of League discussion and machinery matters of purely domestic concern unsuitable for international action. The conclusion of the Slavery Convention at the Seventh Assembly, in which the Indian Delegation played a conspicuous rôle, will, we hope, be regarded as a constructive act of real value. In another direction, it is gratifying to report that the financial reconstruction undertaken by the League in Austria and Hungary has been crowned with success, and that the results of the work on behalf of refugees in Greece have justified the making of a similar experiment on a smaller scale in Bulgaria; also that many Governments are prepared to co-operate in Dr. Nansen's scheme for finding employment for Armenian and Russian refugees by means of a contributory fund raised from the refugees themselves.

98. Turning to the work of the Indian Delegation itself, we desire in the first place to express our obligation and gratitude to the Secretariat staff deputed for our assistance by the India Office. Not only was our work greatly facilitated by the excellent briefs prepared for us, but their advice and knowledge of the subjects under discussion and of the procedure were of the utmost value to all members of the delegation. We hope that the results achieved at the Assembly by the delegates will be approved. The speech of His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala focussed the attention of the Assembly, in the midst of its absorption in the problem of the composition of the Council, on India's contribution to League work and her claims to fuller recognition in the decisions of the Assembly. More than one speaker referred in approving terms to this reminder that the policy of the League should be universal and not bounded by the needs of Europe. Opportunity for illustrating this thesis occurred in the discussions in the Second and Fifth Committees, of which advantage was taken in the speeches of various members of the delegation. It was a satisfactory result that the Assembly approved a moderate financial support of the Singapore Bureau, thus recognising the principle that more definite work needed to be undertaken by the League in Asiatic countries; also that testimony was given to the efficiency and value of the control in India of the production, consumption and distribution of opium and its products. At the same time the Indian Delegation undertook, not without success, the less agreeable task of urging the need for financial economy by the League at a time when the world generally requires to be set an example of rigorous scrutiny of public expenditure. We were also able to pay more than one tribute to the constructive work of the League in the countries heavily stricken by the war and in the sphere of international intellectual co-operation.

99. Our predecessors at the Sixth Assembly urged the need for a larger representation of India at Assembly sessions. The more numerous delegation sent this year found its time fully occupied in the lengthy Committee discussions, three at least of which were in progress on most mornings and afternoons simultaneously, and sometimes more, besides having to attend other informal meetings with our colleagues of other delegations. On more than one occasion it was also necessary to hold evening meetings of the Committees in order to finish their work in the time allotted. Nevertheless, opportunites also occurred for valuable social intercourse with members of other delegations. We met with much hospitality and ourselves had the pleasure of entertaining, together with some of the most prominent personalities at the Assembly, a number of our British, Dominions and Asiatic colleagues, as well as the Indians employed in the Secretariat of the League and International Labour Office. In our opinion there is plenty of work at the Assembly to occupy an Indian Delegation of moderate size, both in the formal proceedings of the Assembly and its Committees, and also in more informal surroundings, where we can do something to dispel the large amount of ignorance which still prevails as regards Indian institutions and public life among representatives of many foreign countries.

APPENDIX.

ANNEX 1.—Extract from Interim Report of Indian Delegation to Sixth Assembly.

THE COVENANT OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The Covenant of the League of Nations was signed at the Peace Conference at Versailles, in 1919, by the late Mr. Montagu, His Highness the Maharaja of Bikanir, and Lord Sinha on behalf of India, together with the representatives of 12 other States signatories to the Treaty of Versailles. These States are the original Members of the League of Nations Before the First Session of the Assembly, which was summoned by the late President Wilson to be held at Geneva in 1920, the membership of the League had increased to 42 States. At the present time the membership is 55. The Articles of the Covenant define in general terms the constitution and functions of the League of Nations, but it has been left to the Assembly and the Council at their successive sessions to determine their respective methods and spheres of work. The central purpose of the League is the preservation of peace, whether by provisions for security, arbitration and reduction of armaments or by economic reconstruction and the creation of technical organisations to facilitate friendly intercourse between the nations of the world. The main principles for the preservation of peace adopted in the Covenant are conference and delay. The States Members are pledged not go to war, at least until certain prescribed methods of peaceful settlement of a dispute have been tried. then not to go to war in any circumstances until at least three months after the result of the investigation of the cause of their dispute is known, and in no case to go to war against a unanimous decision of the Council (excluding the votes of the parties to the dispute). With a view to due investigation of the causes of disputes the States Members of the League undertake to submit them, when direct negotiations fail, either to the Permanent Court of International Justice for judicial settlement, or to some agreed form of arbitration, or, if neither of these two courses is followed, to submit to an enquiry by the League itself; such an enquiry can be undertaken either by the Assembly or by the Council, but is ordinarily held by the latter. States in dispute, whether Members of the Council or of the League or not, may participate in the discussion of a dispute in which they are concerned. All States, therefore, have a choice between judicial settlement, settlement by arbitration, or mediation by the Council or the Assembly to secure settlement of a dispute which they cannot settle by direct negotiation. On the other hand, the League cannot impose its decisions upon States without their consent; it cannot intefere in matters declared to be of national domestic concern; no initiative within the League and no League decision can be taken except by the Government of States Members of the League; the penalties provided in the Covenant do not apply to States which fail to carry out the decisions of the League, but only to States which resort to war in positive breach to the Covenant itself.

The other work of the League, such as its direct administration of certain areas of Europe; its supervision of the administration of certain areas outside Europe by States Members of the League under mandate; its organisation of international co-operation in financial, economic, trade, transit, health, intellectual and moral questions, is directed towards the elimination of possible causes of disputes between nations, as well as to humanitarian and social development. In all these activities the League has to act as a composite association of States, each making due allowance for the situation and the desires of others. The League cannot impose a collective will, but must secure general consent to its decisions. It is not so much a form of government as a form of international co-operation between Governments.

THE ASSEMBLY AND THE COUNCIL.

The Constitution of the League itself secures continuity in this co-operation. In the Covenant the respective functions of the Assembly and the Council have not been strictly defined. In practice, however, the Assembly, consisting of not more than three representatives of each State Member and meeting in annual sessions in the month of September, has assumed the general direction of the work of the League. The Council, which meets once a quarter, consists of the representatives of 10 States Members, namely, four permanent Members, Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan, and six non-permanent Members, elected annually by the Assembly, which are at present Brazil, Uruguay, Spain, Czecho-Slovakia, Sweden, and Belgium. It supervises the current work of the Secretariat and the various Commissions, and deals with special emergencies. It has, in fact, become the executive organ of the League. In this capacity the Council makes appointments to and supervises the work of the special organisations or commissions created by the decisions of the Assembly to conduct special enquiries or supervise administration. The administration of the Saar Valley and Danzig, the Permanent Mandates Commission, the Greek Refugees Commission (of which Sir John Campbell, I.C.S., retired, is a member), and the Financial Commissions in Austria and Hungary, are among the organisations concerned with direct administration. Among other organisations are the League Health Organisation, which supervises medical research, the publication of epidemiological statistics and the establishment of liaison between the public health services of different countries; the Economic, Financial, and Communications and Transit Committees, which study in meetings of experts the means of facilitating international co-operation in these matters; the Committee on Intellectual Co-operation (of which Sir Jagadis Bose is a member, and Sir Atul Chatterjee is a substitute member); the Opium and Dangerous Drugs Advisory Committee, which concerts measures to control the traffic in opium and drugs; the Financial Supervisory Commission (of which Lord Meston is a member), which performs the functions of a Budget or Estimates Committee, reviewing and controlling the expenditure of the League; and the Advisory Committee for the Protection of Women and Children. In addition, temporary organisations are created from time to time to study special questions. Among these may be mentioned the Committee for Allocation of the Expenses of the League between the Member States, the Committee to study the Development of International Law (of which Sir Muhammad Rafique is a member), and the Temporary Slavery Committee.

THE SECRETARIAT.

The administrative and clerical services of the Assembly, Council, and subordinate organisations are provided by the permanent staff of the Secretariat and by temporary staff recruited from time to time. Members of the staff are required to be proficient in at least French and English. They were largely recruited, if not locally, among the chief European States at the outset. India is at present represented by only two of her nationals at the Secretariat.

The whole expenditure involved in the meetings of the Assembly, the Council, and various Conferences and Commissions, the upkeep of the League Secretariat, as well as of the International Labour Office and Permanent Court of International Justice, is defrayed through the Budget presented annually to the Assembly. The Assembly also decides in what proportion the expenditure is divisible between the Member States. The total annual expenditure amounts on an average to £900,000 sterling, of which about £490,000 is spent by the League of Nations proper, £285,000 by the International Labour Office, and £80,000 by the Permanent Court, the balance being capital expenditure and working capital.

WORK OF THE ASSEMBLY.

Reports of the sessions of the Council and of the various technical organisations, as well as those of International Conferences summoned at Geneva to conclude agreements on special questions (e.g., the Customs, Opium, and Arms Traffic Conferences) are distributed, on publication, to the Governments of all States Members of the League, whether directly represented at such sessions or conferences or not. In addition, a General Report on the work of the Council and the Secretariat and the measures taken to execute the decisions of the previous Assembly is distributed shortly before the annual session of the Assembly. The provisional agenda for the Assembly session is prepared by the Secretariat, subject to the approval of the President of the Council, and is distributed four months before the Assembly meets. It includes discussion of the General Report and any Supplementary Reports, and the consideration of the work of each of the permanent organisations and of any temporary committees which have been required to submit a eport, also the audited accounts for the previous financial period and the Budget statement.

Items may be added either by the Council or by the preceding Assembly or by individual Member States. By a rule of procedure any Member State may, at least one month before the opening of the session, propose the inclusion of additional items in the agenda. But the Assembly has the right to decide if these additional items are to be discussed in the current session. This procedure secures some degree of notice to the Member States of the questions likely to be discussed at the Assembly: but the right to suggest supplementary items for discussion is freely exercised and many of the reports of the work of technical organisations are not available for distribution before the beginning of the session. It therefore is often the case that questions on which the delegates present have received no instructions or advice are brought up for discussion at the Assembly. In such cases the delegates of distant countries, such as India, find themselves at a disadvantage through being unable to obtain the views of the competent authorities in their own country before taking a decision. In order to give satisfaction to the more distant countries, the Assembly usually decides to postpone a decision on such questions until they have been examined by the Governments of the Member States. Except therefore in matters of routine and comparative unimportance or in case of great urgency, a final decision is rarely taken at the Assembly on any question until it has been considered by the Governments of the Member States. The Assembly, however, is sometimes able to approve a proposal in principle while requesting the Council to decide on the manner and time of its execution. As the decisions of the Assembly have to be taken with unanimity, there is little danger of its action being precipitate.

The Assembly at present meets in a hired building at some distance from the Secretariat. Four seats on the floor of the house are allotted to the representatives of each Member State, arranged in alphabetical order. The fourth seat is for the use of a substitute delegate or secretary. Facing the representatives is a dais, on which the President and officials of the Assembly sit, immediately behind the tribune. The Press and general public sit in the galleries surrounding the hall and other members of the various delegations occupy the corridors of the floor of the house.

THE COMMITTEES OF THE ASSEMBLY.

It has been the practice of each Assembly to appoint six general Committees, on which all the delegations are represented, for consideration of and report to the Assembly upon the items of the agenda referred to them. Each delegation has the right to be represented by one delegate or a substitute. The Committees elect their own Chairmen and Vice-Chairmen. Ordinarily, the Press and general public are admitted to their sessions. In the Assembly it is necessary to give the President notice if a delegate intends to speak. The procedure in Committees is less formal; set speeches are the exception rather than the rule and the proceedings are not reported verbatim. For each of the questions on the agenda a rapporteur is appointed, who initiates the proceedings by presenting a draft report on the basis of available documentary data with appropriate draft resolutions for the consideration of the Committee. After the discussion is finished a revised report, which is expected to include a brief account of the various opinions expressed in the Committee, is adopted and presented to the Assembly for the approval of the draft resolution appended to it. Whereas all decisions of the Assembly have to be unanimous, decisions can be taken in Committees by a majority vote. The rapporteur, however, endeavours, under the direction of the Chairman, to conciliate opposing views by modifications in his report and draft resolution in such a way as to enable the resolution to be carried with unanimity in the Assembly.

ANNEX II.—Resolutions and convention regarding Slavery and Forced Labour adopted by the Seventh Assembly on the Report of the Sixth Committee.

The Assembly:

1. Approves the Slavery Convention drafted by its Sixth Committee, and earnestly trusts that it will be signed and ratified as soon as possible by all the Members of the League of Nations:

Instructs the Secretary-General to take the necessary steps to bring the Convention officially to the knowledge of all States Members or Non-Members of the League of Nations which may not have signed it before the end of the present session of the Assembly, to the end that they may sign or adhere to it in accordance with the provisions of Article 11 of the Convention.

2. Desires that the League of Nations should continue to interest itself in securing the progressive abolition of slavery and conditions analogous thereto, and therefore requests the Council to prepare and communicate to the Assembly every year a document mentioning the laws and regulations which parties to the Convention on Slavery, in accordance with Article 7, will have communicated to the Secretary-General, and that the Council will include therein any supplementary information which the Members of the League may be disposed spontaneously to furnish with regard to the measures taken by them to this end.

3. While recognising that forced labour for public purposes is sometimes necessary:

Is of opinion that, as a general rule, it should not be resorted to unless it is impossible to obtain voluntary labour, and that it should receive adequate remuneration.

4. Taking note of the work undertaken by the International Labour Office in conformity with the mission entrusted to it and within the limits of its constitution;

Considering that these studies naturally include the problem of forced labour:

Requests the Council to inform the Governing Body of the International Labour Office of the adoption of the Slavery Convention, and to draw its attention to the importance of the work undertaken by the Office with a view to studying the best means of preventing forced or compulsory labour from developing into conditions analogous to slavery.

SLAVERY CONVENTION.

* * * * * * *

Whereas the signatories of the General Act of the Brussels Conference of 1889-90 declared that they were equally animated by the firm intention of putting an end to the traffic in African slaves;

Whereas the signatories of the Convention of Saint Germain-en-Laye of 1919 to revise the General Act of Berlin of 1885 and the General Act and Declaration of Brussels of 1890 affirmed their intention of securing the complete suppression of slavery in all its forms and of the slave trade by land and sea;

Taking into consideration the report of the Temporary Slavery Commission appointed by the Council of the League of Nations on June 12th, 1924;

Desiring to complete and extend the work accomplished under the Brussels Act and to find a means of giving practical effect throughout the world to such intentions as were expressed in regard to slave trade and slavery by the signatories of the Convention of Saint Germain-en-Laye, and recognising that it is necessary to conclude to that end more detailed arrangements than are contained in that Convention;

Considering, moreover, that it is necessary to prevent forced labour from developing into conditions analogous to slavery:

Have decided to conclude a Convention and have accordingly appointed as their Plenipotentiaries:—

* * * * * * *

Who, having communicated their full powers, have agreed as follows:—

Article 1.

For the purpose of the present Convention, the following definitions are agreed upon:—

(1) Slavery is the status or condition of a person over whom any or all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership are exercised.

(2) The slave trade includes all acts involved in the capture, acquisition or disposal of a person with intent to reduce him to slavery; all acts involved in the acquisition of a slave, with a view to selling or exchanging him; all acts of disposal by sale or exchange of a slave acquired with a view to being sold or exchanged, and, in general, every act of trade or transport in slaves.

Article 2.

The High Contracting Parties undertake each in respect of the territories placed under its sovereignty, jurisdiction, protection, suzerainty or tutelage, so far as they have not already taken the necessary steps—

(a) to prevent and suppress the slave trade;

(b) to bring about, progressively and as soon as possible, the complete abolition of slavery in all its forms.

Article 3.

The High Contracting Parties undertake to adopt all appropriate measures with a view to preventing and suppressing the embarkation, disembarkation, and transport of slaves in their territorial waters and upon all vessels flying their respective flags.

The High Contracting Parties undertake to negotiate as soon as possible a general Convention with regard to the slave trade which will give them rights and impose upon them duties of the same nature as those provided for in the Convention of June 17th, 1925, relative to the International Trade in Arms (Articles 12, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and paras. 3, 4, and 5 of section II of Annex II) with the necessary adaptations, it being understood that this general Convention will not place the ships (even of small tonnage) of any High Contracting Parties in a position different from that of the other High Contracting Parties.

It is also understood that, before or after the coming into force of this general Convention, the High Contracting Parties are entirely free to conclude between themselves, without, however, derogating from the principles laid down in the preceding paragraph, such special agreements as, by reason of their peculiar situation, might appear to be suitable in order to bring about as soon as possible the complete disappearance of the slave trade

Article 4.

The High Contracting Parties shall give to one another every assistance with the object of securing the abolition of slavery and the slave trade.

Article 5.

The High Contracting Parties recognize that recourse to compulsory or forced labour may have grave consequences, and undertake, each in respect of the territories placed under its sovereignty, jurisdiction, protection, suzerainty, or tutelage, to take all necessary measures to prevent compulsory or forced labour from developing into conditions analogous to slavery.

It is agreed that :—

(1) Subject to the transitional provisions laid down in paragraph (2) below compulsory or forced labour may only be exacted for public purposes.

(2) In territories in which compulsory or forced labour for other than public purposes still survives, the High Contracting Parties shall endeavour progressively, and as soon as possible, to put an end to the practice. So long as such forced or compulsory labour exists, this labour shall invariably be of an exceptional character, shall always receive adequate remuneration, and shall not involve the removal of the labourers from their usual place of residence.

(3) In all cases, the responsibility for any recourse to compulsory or forced labour shall rest with the competent central authorities of the territory concerned.

Article 6.

Those of the High Contracting Parties whose laws do not at present make adequate provision for the punishment of infractions of laws and regulations enacted with a view to giving effect to the purposes of the present Convention, undertake to adopt the necessary measures in order that severe penalties may be imposed in respect of such infractions.

Article 7.

The High Contracting Parties undertake to communicate to each other and to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations any laws and regulations which they may enact with a view to the application of the provisions of the present Convention.

Article 8.

The High Contracting Parties agree that disputes arising between them relating to the interpretation or application of this Convention shall, if they cannot be settled by direct negotiation, be referred for decision to the Permanent Court of International Justice. In case either or both of the States Parties to such a dispute should not be parties to the Protocol of December 16th, 1920, relating to the Permanent Court of International Justice, the dispute shall be referred, at the choice of the Parties and in accordance with the constitutional procedure of each State, either to the Permanent Court of International Justice or to a court of arbitration constituted in accordance with the Convention of October 18th, 1907, for the Pacific Settlement of International Disputes, or to some other court of arbitration.

Article 9.

At the time of signature, or of ratification, or of accession, any High Contracting Party may declare that its acceptance of the present Convention does not bind some or all of the territories placed under its sovereignty, jurisdiction, protection, suzerainty or tutelage in respect of all or any provisions of the Convention ; it may subsequently accede separately on behalf of any one of them or in respect of any provision to which any one of them is not a party.

Article 10.

In the event of a High Contracting Party wishing to denounce the present convention, the denunciation shall be notified in writing to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who will at once communicate a certified true copy of the notification to all the other High Contracting Parties informing them of the date on which it was received.

The denunciation shall only have effect in regard to the notifying State, and one year after the notification has reached the Secretary-General of the League of Nations.

Denunciation may also be made separately in respect of any territory placed under its sovereignty, jurisdiction, protection, suzerainty or tutelage.

Article 11.

The present convention, which will bear this day's date and of which the French and English texts are both authentic, will remain open for signature by the States Members of the League of Nations until April 1st, 1927.

The Secretary-General of the League of Nations will subsequently bring the present convention to the notice of States which have not signed it, including States which are not Members of the League of Nations, and invite them to accede thereto.

A State desiring to accede to the convention shall notify its intention in writing to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations and transmit to him the instrument of accession, which shall be deposited in the archives of the League.

The Secretary-General shall immediately transmit to all the other High Contracting Parties a certified true copy of the notification and of the instrument of accession, informing them of the date on which he received them.

Article 12.

The present convention will be ratified and the instruments of ratification shall be deposited in the office of the Secretary-General of the League of Nations. The Secretary-General will inform all the High Contracting Parties of such deposit.

The Convention will come into operation for each State on the date of the deposit of its ratification or of its accession.

In faith whereof the Plenipotentiaries have signed the present Convention.

Done at Geneva the twenty-fifth day of September One thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, in one copy, which will be deposited in the archives of the League of Nations. A certified copy shall be forwarded to each signatory State.

The Convention was signed by Sir William Vincent on 25th September 1926 on behalf of India, subject to the following reservations :—

Under the terms of Article 9 of this Convention, I declare that my signature is not binding as regards the enforcement of the provisions of Article 2, sub-section (b). Articles 5, 6 and 7 of this Convention upon the following territories, namely :—In Burma, the Naga tracts lying west and south of the Hukawng Valley, bounded on the north and west by the Assam boundary, on the east by the Nanphuk River and on the south by the Singaling Hkamti and the Somra tracts ; in Assam, the Sadiya and Balipara frontier tracts, the tribal area to the east of the Naga Hills district, up to the Burma boundary, and a small tract in the south of the Lushai Hills district ; nor on the territories in India of any Prince or Chief under the suzerainty of His Majesty.

I also declare that my signature to the Convention is not binding in respect of Article 3 in so far as that Article may require India to enter into any Convention whereby vessels, by reason of the fact that they are owned, fitted out or commanded by Indians, or of the fact that one-half of the crew is Indian, are classified as native vessels, or are denied any privilege, right or immunity enjoyed by similar vessels of other States Signatories of the Covenant or are made subject to any liability or disability to which similar ships of such other States are not subject.

The following reservation was made by Prince Arfa-ud-Dowleh on behalf of Persia on signing the Convention :—

I declare that Article 3 cannot compel Persia to subscribe to any arrangement or Convention under which its ships of all tonnages whatever are included in the category of native craft referred to in the Arms Traffic Convention.

ESTABLISHMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 39.—The 16th December 1926.—The following regulations are republished for general information.

A. N. DAS,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

INDIAN SERVICE OF ENGINEERS.

Regulations as to appointment of Assistant Executive Engineers in 1927.

[The Secretary of State is unable to give any undertaking that the Regulations will remain unaltered in the future.]

NOTE.—Any attempt on the part of a candidate to enlist support for his application through persons of influence will disqualify him for appointment. Recommendations from persons other than those mentioned by a candidate in his application form will be disregarded.

1. Until further notice the Secretary of State for India in Council will, during each year, make a number of appointments of Assistant Executive Engineers in the Public Works Department in India.

In making these appointments he will act with the advice of a Selection Committee, including at least one eminent representative of the Engineering profession.

In 1927 it is intended that ten* appointments shall be made.

The Selection Committee will probably sit in May.

2. Applications must be made on a printed form, which may be obtained from the Secretary, Services and General Department, India Office, Whitehall, S. W. 1, and should reach the India Office not later than 1st April 1927.

3. Candidates must have attained the age of 21 and not attained the age of 24 years on the 1st August 1927.

4. Except as stated in the note on paragraph 1 hereof every candidate must be a European British subject of non-Asiatic domicile, and if he or his father or his mother was not born within His Majesty's Dominions and allegiance, the father must at the time of the candidate's birth have been a British subject and still be (or have continued to be until his death) a British subject. The decision of the Secretary of State in Council whether a candidate satisfies these conditions shall be final. A candidate must also be of good moral character and sound bodily health and, in the opinion of the Secretary of State for India in Council, in all respects suitable to hold an appointment in the Indian Public Works Department.

5. Candidates must produce evidence that they have either (1) obtained one of the University degrees mentioned in Appendix I; or (2) passed Sections A and B of the A. M. I. C. E. examination; or (3) passed the Associateship in Civil Engineering of the City and Guilds Institute (Imperial College of Science and Technology, South Kensington); or (4) obtained such other diploma or distinction in Engineering as the Secretary of State may decide to accept in any particular case. It is preferred that candidates should have taken a college course and obtained one of the degrees mentioned in Appendix I. They must in addition have had at least one full year's practical experience of Civil Engineering under a qualified Civil Engineer at the time when they appear before the Selection Committee. Those whose qualifying diploma has been obtained without a college course should have had a full three years of such practical experience.

6. Selected candidates will be required to undergo further training on works in India for a period of at least one year. During this period they will be on probation and their final appointment will be made dependent upon the result of such probation.

7 Candidates must be prepared, if called upon, to attend at the India Office, at their own expense, for a personal interview with the Selection Committee.

8. Selected candidates will further be required, before final appointment by the Secretary of State in Council, to appear, at their own expense, before the Medical Board at the India Office for examination as to their physical fitness for service in India.

---

* Of these ten appointments, one will be allotted to a Burman candidate if one presents himself and is found qualified. Such a candidate, if selected, will be appointed to the India-recruited Branch of the Department in Burma on the usual terms and conditions applicable to that Branch. Separate Regulations showing the terms applicable to this appointment will be issued to Burman candidates on application.

*9. They will also be required to satisfy the Secretary of State of their ability to ride.

10. They will on appointment be provided with a free first-class passage to India and will be expected to proceed thither about the middle of September in the year in which they are appointed.

11. Their pay and their service for leave will begin from the date of their landing in India, subject to their proceeding immediately to join their appointments. If they so desire, they will be able to obtain an advance of two months' pay, recoverable by monthly instalments of one-third of salary. Of this advance a portion not exceeding one-half may be drawn in England.

12. Candidates will enter the service as Assistant Executive Engineers on a salary, including overseas pay, of Rs. 6,300 a year. Service for increments and for pension will count from the date of landing in India (subject as aforesaid) or from the 1st October of the year of appointment, whichever is earlier.

13. The instruments required by Assistant Executive Engineers are supplied to them in India.

14. Particulars as to pay, pension, etc., are contained in Appendices III, IV, and V.

APPENDIX IV.

(See paragraph 14 of the Regulations.)

NOTE.—This Appendix is merely intended to show the principal leave rules in the Fundamental Rules and the Pension Rules at present applicable to Engineers appointed to the Indian Services from the United Kingdom without going into minute details, and does not profess to deal with every case that may arise. The rules are subject to alteration, and any disputed question must be decided with reference to the authorised text of the Fundamental Rules or Civil Service Regulations for the time being.

Leave.

(The following rules apply only to officers of non-Asiatic domicile.)

1. Leave is calculated in terms of "leave on average pay," and the amount of "leave on average pay" which an officer earns is five-twenty-seconds of the period spent on duty.

2. Subject to certain maxima and minima, an officer may draw, at his option, leave salary equal to the average pay of the last 12 months of completed duty or to half such average pay. All leave on average pay and half the period on half average pay is counted against the leave earned. An officer may take his leave on average pay, on half average pay, or on a combination of the two provided that his continuous absence from duty does not exceed 28 months, and that the amount of leave taken on average pay does not exceed eight months at any one time. The maximum amount of leave admissible during an officer's career is the equivalent of leave on average pay for three years plus one-eleventh of the period spent on duty, of which not more than one year plus one-eleventh of the period spent on duty may actually consist of leave on average pay. Leave not due and carrying half average pay may be granted on medical certificate, and, within certain limits, for other reasons, but an officer will not again commence to earn leave until the expiration of a fresh period of duty sufficient to earn a credit of leave equal to the leave he has taken before it was due. After 28 months' absence from duty an officer draws quarter average salary, subject to certain maxima and minima.

3. Leave salary is ordinarily payable in rupees if the officer spends his leave in India or Ceylon, and in sterling if he spends it elsewhere. The rate of exchange for the conversion of leave salary is prescribed from time to time by the Secretary of State.

4. It should be noted that leave can never be claimed as of right, but is given or refused at the discretion of Government.

Pensions.

5. The following is a summary of the pension rules applicable to Engineers appointed to the Indian Services by the Secretary of State from the United Kingdom.

Ordinary Pensions.

6. An officer is entitled, on his resignation being accepted, to a retiring pension after completing qualifying service of not less than 20 years.

7. An officer is entitled to superannuation pension on attaining the age of 55 years, when retirement is ordinarily required, or on retirement thereafter. (An officer is sometimes, for special reasons, retained after attaining the age of 55 years.)

8. The rates of retiring and superannuation pension are $\frac{1}{60}$ths of average emoluments, subject to the following maxima :—

Completed years of qualifying Service.	Maximum Limit of Pension.	Completed years of qualifying Service.	Maximum Limit of Pension.
	Per annum.		Per annum.
	Rs.		Rs.
20—24	4,000	28	6,600
25	6,000	29	6,800
26	6,200	30	7,000
27	6,400

9. Government may retire any officer after he has completed 25 years' service without giving reasons, and without any claim for compensation in addition to pension, and in that event the pension admissible to him will ordinarily be regulated on a scale not exceeding that laid down above. Government also reserves the general power to reduce the pension ordinarily admissible in all cases where an officer's service has been unsatisfactory.

10. An officer who is compelled to retire through ill-health not occasioned by irregular or intemperate habits will be eligible for invalid gratuity or pension as follows :—

(a) After qualifying service of less than 7 years a gratuity not exceeding one month's emoluments for each completed year of service (except in special cases and under the orders of the Government of India, who may sanction a maximum of 12 months' emoluments). If the emoluments of the officer have been reduced during the last three years of his service, otherwise than as a penalty, average emoluments may, at the discretion of the authority which has power to sanction the gratuity, be substituted for emoluments.

(b) After a service of not less than 7 years, a pension not exceeding the following amounts :—

Completed years of qualifying Service.	Scale of Pension.	Maximum.	Completed years of qualifying Service.	Scale of Pension.	Maximum.
		Per annum.			Per annum.
		Rs.			Rs.
7	7 sixtieths of average emoluments.	2,000	19	19 sixtieths of average emoluments.	4,800

18	18 ditto	4,600	30 and above.	30 ditto	7,000

Additional Pensions.

11. The Government of India have classified certain high appointments into two grades, the lower comprising those posts which involve high but intermediate responsibility, the higher consisting of those which require a marked degree of independent administrative and professional capacity. Officers who have held appointments listed in the lower grade may be granted an additional pension at the rate of Rs. 300 for each completed year of effective service in any appointment included in that grade, provided that no officer may draw an additional pension in excess of Rs. 1,500 in respect of service classed in the lower grade. Officers who have held appointments listed in the upper grade may be granted an additional pension at the rate of Rs. 500 for each completed year of effective service rendered in any appointment included in that grade, provided that no officer may draw an additional pension in excess of Rs. 2,500 in respect of service rendered in the lower and upper grades combined or in the upper grade alone.

12. These additional pensions will be awarded only to officers who have rendered approved service in the qualifying appointment, and will be subject to the condition that an officer must, in the event of voluntary retirement, have completed 28 years' qualifying service.

The upper grade includes the Consulting Engineer to the Government of India and Chief Engineers of the Indian Service of Engineers.

The lower grade includes Superintending Engineers, Indian Service of Engineers, and the Deputy Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Industries and Labour, Public Works Branch.

Provident Fund.

13. A General Provident Fund, to which contribution is compulsory, has also been established on the following basis :—

(1) contribution is compulsory up to 6¼ per cent. of pay, with voluntary contributions of not more than a further 9⅜ per cent. Contributions during leave of any kind are optional.

(2) Compound interest on such payments is annually credited by Government to each officer contributing.

(3) The sum which thus accumulates to the credit of an officer is his absolute property, subject to the rules of the Fund, and is handed over to him, unconditionally, on his quitting the service ; or, in the event of his death before retirement, to his legal representatives or such other person or persons as, under and subject to the rules of the Fund for the time being in force, may be entitled thereto.

APPENDIX V.
